

Trouble Due if Plants Fail to Reopen, Warning

10,000 Workers 'Becoming Impatient,' Attorney Says

ADDED VIOLENCE

Bombing and Kidnaping Are Reported at Johnstown, Pa.

Detroit—(AP)—Termination of two strikes in General Motors plants opened the way today for some 25,000 employees to return to work, but settlement of a third was complicated by the refusal of sit-downers to vacate the factory.

One of the two strikes definitely settled was in the Chevrolet Grey Iron foundry at Saginaw, Mich., where 5,500 had been idle since last Thursday. The plant will resume operations with the night shift late today. The stoppage of operations had caused several dependent General Motors units to suspend.

The other settlement was at Baltimore, Md., where 2,300 will return to work in the Fisher Body and Chevrolet assembly plants tomorrow.

The management of the Buffalo, N. Y., Fisher Body plant announced that a brief strike which closed it and the Chevrolet assembly plant there had been settled, but 700 strikers refused to evacuate the body plant.

Youngstown, Ohio—(AP)—A warning that some 10,000 strike-idle steel workers in the Mahoning valley are "becoming impatient" and that there would be "serious trouble soon" if they are held back from their jobs, was placed today before Frank Purnell, president of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company.

Purnell declined any specific answer except that he would act "as rapidly as the circumstances permit" to reopen the mills.

With the apparent collapse of this back-to-work movement in Youngstown, another "danger spot" in the big strike area—at Johnstown, Pa.—saw Mayor Daniel J. Shields appeal to President Roosevelt to intervene in the Johnstown strike to "remove the murderous element that now infests the city."

The mayor said kidnaping had been added to a dynamite bombing in the disorders during the 6-day-old strike at the Cambria works of Bethlehem Steel.

"The situation has grown so bad," Mayor Shields wired the president, "that the strikers have resorted to the most dastardly crime in our nation today—that of kidnaping."

Shields wired the president a man giving the name of James M. Hess, identified by police as a worker in the mills, reported he was seized by six men, stripped of his clothing and thrown out of their automobile.

The warning to Purnell in Youngstown was voiced by Ray L. Thomas, attorney spokesman for the Independent Society of Workers, a leading anti-strike group.

Purnell declined to give the workers' delegation any answer except that he would move "as rapidly as possible" to obtain promises of "protection" from civil authorities for men who want to go back to work.

Judge Asks Data

At Warren, Ohio, another tense point in the Mahoning valley steel area, Judge Lynn B. Griffith ordered the Republic Steel company to bring into court any records showing how much has been spent for machine guns, tear-gas bombs, labor "spies" and company unions.

The judge made his ruling at the start of the third day's hearing on Republic's petition for an injunction to curtail picketing.

The Steel Workers' Organizing Committee proposed to the Bethlehem Steel corporation that an election be held at the strikebound Cambria works in Johnstown, Pa., to determine whether John L. Lewis' steel union will represent the employees in collective bargaining.

On the eastern front of the strike "war" an explosion at Johnstown, Pa., sent scores of terror-stricken residents tumbling from their beds into the streets before dawn today.

It was triggered from a car about 3 o'clock (eastern standard time). State policemen stationed there had

Insurgent Commander Sends Troops to Heights Near Bilbao

Germany and Italy formally re-joined the international non-intervention patrol to keep arms and men from reaching Spain today while Spanish insurgents tightened their circle of steel around besieged Bilbao.

Both nations quit the neutral patrol May 31 after their warships had been bombed by Spanish government planes. This also led to a reprisal bombing of Almeria, Spain, by German Vessels. Now Britain, France, Germany and Italy have evolved a plan to guarantee safety of the patrol ships.

Power District Clause Held Unconstitutional

Madison—(AP)—Justices Chester A. Fowler and Edward T. Fairchild filed an opinion today holding the 1931 power district law unconstitutional so far as delegation of power to the public service commission is concerned.

The two justices dissented from a majority decision of the supreme court last week holding the legislature's delegation of power to be constitutional.

They agreed with the majority that the Polk-Burnett power district was invalid, but disagreed with the majority opinion that the commission must make a finding of "feasibility" because approving or disapproving creation of a power district.

Assembly Favors Reports on Taxes Paid by Members

Madison—(AP)—The assembly adopted today a joint resolution requiring all members of the legislature to submit reports to the two houses on the income and property taxes they have paid this year.

The resolution was introduced by Assemblyman Albert D. Shimek, (D), Alcona, who protested if the lawmakers are willing to increase public expenditures, the people are entitled to know what share of government costs they are bearing.

The house approved the measure without record vote and sent it to the senate.

Child Injured in Mishap on Tracks

Believe Neenah Youngster Was Brushed by Locomotive

Neenah—Vernon Palmer, 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Palmer, 167 E. North Water street, Neenah, suffered a skull fracture and body bruises when struck by a Chicago and North Western railway passenger train in Neenah shortly after 3 o'clock this morning.

The southbound train had stopped at the local depot and was leaving when the accident occurred near the approach to the trestle over the Fox river. The child was believed to be playing near the track and was brushed by the locomotive. Members of the train crew picked up the injured boy and the train was backed to the depot where the city ambulance was called.

Marjorie Graham, 13, 200 S. Lake street, was near the scene of the accident but was unable to give an accurate description of the mishap. Vernon was taken to Theda Clark Memorial hospital where the attending physician said he was in "serious condition."

Oshkosh Man Lost On Lonely Island; Search Is Started

Seattle—(AP)—The coast guard today joined in the search for John Steenis of Oshkosh, Wis., reported lost for four days on lonely Apattu island in the far western Aleutians.

Steenis was lost from the United States Biological Survey ship Brown Bear on which he was a research man. The coast guard cutter sped from Unalaska today on an 800-mile run to join the Brown Bear's crew in the search.

Madison—(AP)—John H. Steenis, 30, reported lost in the Aleutian islands of the Alaskan coast, is the son of Mrs. Mary Steenis of Madison.

His mother said she had received no word from him since May 5.

Steenis was graduated from the University of Wisconsin in 1931. He won a major "W" for sports competition. He is married and his wife is now visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Householder, in Madison.

Woman May Get Important Labor Post at Capital

Mary Norton May Head House Group; William P. Connery, Jr., Dies

Washington—(AP)—The death of Representative William P. Connery, Jr. (D-Mass.) may place a second woman in an important government labor post.

Representative Mary T. Norton (D-N.J.) is entitled by seniority to succeed Connery as chairman of the house labor committee—a position which requires frequent conferences with Miss Frances Perkins, secretary of labor.

Like Miss Perkins, Mrs. Norton entered public office through her interest in social welfare work. She has been in congress since 1924.

If she chooses to retain her present post, the labor chairmanship will pass to Representative Ramspeck (D-Ga.) It is one of the key offices in congress at present because the committee is considering a broad wage and hour bill.

Helped Draft Bill

Connery, known to Capitol associates as "Billy," was co-author of the wage and hour measure. During his 15 years in congress he sponsored many labor bills. He introduced in the house the Wagner labor relations act, upheld last spring by the supreme court.

The 48-year-old representative became ill late Monday after returning from a speaking tour in Massachusetts. His wife started here when she learned of his illness, but was halted enroute by news of his death.

She returned to their home at Lynn, Mass., where her daughter, Marie Teresa, 9, is in school.

Connery and his wife once were partners in a vaudeville act.

New Court Retirement Measure Before Senate

Madison—(AP)—A new administration plan for retirement of supreme and circuit court judges was introduced in the senate today by the joint finance committee.

The sponsors advocate deductions of 5 per cent from the jurists' salaries to finance the plan. The money would be set aside for salaries of "reserve" judges who had retired. Allotments would be half the judge's salary at retirement.

Such retirement benefits would be granted only to justices of the supreme court who had served 10 years continuously; circuit judges who had served 15 years continuously; or men who had served in both capacities for a total of 15 consecutive years.

To them the retirement salary system would be available only if they yielded their positions between the ages of 65 and 72. If they failed to retire upon reaching the age of 72 they could not receive any return for their payments through the years.

If a judge was defeated or retired before reaching the length of service required, the state would return all his contributions.

Roosevelt to Confer With Party Chiefs

President to Hold Conferences for Three Days With Followers

MAY DISCUSS COURT

Industrial Disputes Continue to Attract Attention at Capital

Washington—(AP)—President Roosevelt turned today to the seclusion and informality of an island club in the Chesapeake bay for a series of significant conferences with his party members in congress.

For three days beginning June 25, the White House announced, the chief executive will visit the Jefferson Island club at the invitation of Senate Majority Leader Robinson, president of the fish and gun organization.

A third of the 407 Democratic members in the senate and house will go to the island each day while the president is there. The White House said Mr. Roosevelt would discuss with them any legislative or other problems they wished to bring up.

Cabinet members—except Secretary Perkins, since it is to be a stag affair—presidential secretaries and others high in executive positions will be on hand.

There was no immediate indication of any specific problems to be brought up, but there was expectation the discussions might include the court reorganization controversy, in which many Democratic senators have sided against the president.

Offshoots of industrial troubles in steel manufacturing centers brought new developments in both administrative and legislative quarters here.

The house post office committee recommended against passage of a resolution asking the postmaster general for information on charges that service had been denied to operators of strike-bound plants.

Old labor troubles in the coal fields came to the fore again when the senate civil liberties committee

G. W. Kruback, 51, Clintonville veterinarian, pleaded guilty of drunken driving when he was arrested in the municipal court of Judge Thomas E. Ryan this morning and was fined $50 and costs with an alternative of 30 days in the county detention camp.

Says U. S. Certain to Enter Any Major War

Madison—(AP)—Walter H. Laves, Chicago, director of the midwest office of the League of Nations, said today America's entry into any major war in which Russia, Germany, Italy, England or France participate is inevitable. Laves spoke before the first Wisconsin conference on the Cause and Cure of War.

"If you don't think the American people can be swayed by propaganda set to some of these means that are being held for the Spanish loyalists," Laves declared, "We have no financial or political interest in this conflict, but just because we are human we love to take sides."

Laves urged extension of reciprocal treaties to promote international trade. Wisconsin dairymen are against such treaties, he said, because "they meant an influx of dairy products from Canada."

Three Robbers Get $600 At Chicago Dance Hall

Chicago—(AP)—Three men brandishing pistols and wearing silk masks, struck terror among a gaggle of hostesses and patrons early today when they robbed a loop taxi dance hall of a $600 pay roll.

The men climbed to the second floor entrance to the hall and ordered the cashier to open the door. The 100 dancers, noticing the commotion at the door, ran screaming to the rear of the hall, but the robbers made no attempt to molest them. The men entered the booth and grabbed envelopes of money which had been delivered by an express company's armed guards and fled.

Marshall Mayor Granted Postponement

Marshall—(AP)—A postponement to prepare his defense and a bill of particulars of the water charges against him were won last night by Mayor George S. Hies at the opening of his hearing on charges of malfeasance and misconduct in office.

Twelve additional items are enumerated in the bill of particulars. Mayor Hies is charged with rendering fraudulent bills for expenses incurred on trips out of the city or making trips without authority on four occasions. In two instances the mayor is charged with coercion of council or commission members in making their decisions.

Challenge Legality of Ballot After WDA Bill Gets Senate's Approval

Progressive Revolt Continues on Grain Commission Bill

BREAK PARTY LINES

Refuse to Reconsider Amendment on Salary Increase

Madison—(AP)—The revolt in Progressive ranks over an alleged attempt of senate administration leaders to retain the support of Senator Philip Nelson (R), Maple, by political trading had taken root firmly in the assembly today.

Progressives from northern counties bolted party lines to join with Democrats and Republicans in refusing reconsideration of an amendment bill that would prevent Senator Nelson or any other member of the legislature accepting appointment to the state grain and warehouse commission at Superior.

The action was taken late yesterday during a second explosion of the fireworks touched off earlier in the day by Speaker Paul Alfonsi of Pence, who accused senate leaders of playing politics with the relief bill for northern Wisconsin.

The air in the assembly was still warm from the speaker's heated attack when the grain and warehouse bill was called up for debate.

Pay Boost Question

This measure as it arrived from the senate days ago was a simple bill increasing the amount of loading receipts the commission may withhold for operations from $60,000 to $100,000 annually.

The hitch came in adoption of an amendment by Assemblyman Michael Hall (P), Superior, raising the salary of each of the three commissioners from $3,600 a year—which, under Wisconsin law, would prevent any member of this legislature accepting an appointment.

Rumors had been floating around that the executive office had promised Nelson a post of the commission.

When a motion for reconsideration of the amendment came up for argument yesterday Hall accused some of his colleagues of being "whipped" into line by the governor's office.

"Without the consent of the emergency board I don't approve of increasing the funds in this bill to $100,000 and then permitting some member of the senate to go up there and use that money to his own advantage," he said.

While the house stood firm on the amendment by a vote of 47 to 31, the majority did not have enough votes to suspend the rules and place the bill on passage.

Speaker Alfonsi voted for reconsideration, but announced before he did so that he objected only to a portion of the amendment limiting expenses of the commission.

Senate Approves Civil Service Bill

Assembly to Submit Measure to Governor After Enrolling It

Madison—(AP)—The much debated bill placing the state beverage tax division under civil service completed its trip through the legislature today with passage by the senate, 23 to 4.

After being returned to the assembly for the formality of enrollment the bill will go to Governor La Follette.

Only four Democrats opposed the measure on final passage. They were Senators Harry Belts, Port Washington, Joseph Clancy, Racine, Chester Dempsey, Hartland, and Earl J. Shaw, Pembina.

The bill, effective within 60 days if it is signed by the governor, will require all employees of the beverage tax division to take civil service examinations.

The principal battle in both houses came over the question of granting "blanket" civil service status to present employees of the division. A substitute granting automatic rating to these employees was rejected last week.

A final attempt in the form of a substitute proposed by Senator Belts, to set up a new salary schedule and advancement system in the division in lieu of civil service was defeated, 27 to 5.

Body of Green Bay Man Recovered From River

Green Bay—(AP)—Police and county authorities today are attempting to ascertain details of the death of Frank Malinowski, 32, a pipe fitter whose body was found floating in the Fox river here about 6:30 this morning.

He had left the home of his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Farrell, with whom he was staying, about 3 o'clock this morning, saying that he wanted to get some fresh air. Relatives located the body of the man, but he was not seen again until he was found in the river. The body was recovered from the river and is being kept in a morgue.

Accused of Slaying

Salt Lake City—(AP)—Robert C. Nuckols, 26, Salt Lake City, was charged with second degree murder following the death yesterday of Duane Jarrett, 19-year-old Portage (Wis.) youth. Jarrett died in a local hospital of gunshot wounds.

Detective W. E. Eckstein said that Jarrett, in a deathbed statement, accused Nuckols of shooting him during an argument at the latter's apartment June 8.

Accept Work on New School After Long Discussion

Mortar Joint in Gymnasium Wall Considered by Board of Education

That the board of education is not in full accord with the architects and contractors concerning all work on the new senior high school was evident last night when board members approved part of the construction work only after a long discussion.

The board, by a 6 to 1 vote, finally approved the mortar joint under the first layer of brick on one side of the gymnasium provided the contractor posts a 10-year $1,000 maintenance bond and guarantees that no more similar joints will be permitted.

Because the shelf on the concrete foundation for the gymnasium side wall was not quite high enough the contractors filed the space between the concrete and the first layer of brick with a mortar mixture, reinforced with pieces of tile. Board members were of the opinion that this was not "good work" and considered tearing down the brick work and filling the space with concrete.

Architects Approve Work
The architect Eschweiler and Eschweiler, Milwaukee, and Smith and Brandt, Appleton, approved the contractor's work. The vote taken showed Seymour Gmeiner, Mrs. S. C. Shannon, John Wood, J. E. Behnke and Homer H. Benton voting with Dr. George T. Hegner voting nay and C. J. Boyer voting nay only after a protest "against accepting such work."

In discussing the matter, Mr. Gmeiner, board president, said that the board of education should have been told about the joint before brick was laid. He also said that other Appleton contractors had given the opinion that the work was all right and that there was "nothing serious" about the mortar joint.

Offers Suggestion
Mr. Boyer suggested that the brick wall now partly completed be torn down and quick drying cement substituted for the mortar joint.

"I wonder if this is a sample of the work which will be done throughout the building?" Mr. Boyer asked and added "That if the architects call this grade A work, then we are at the mercy of the contractors."

Dr. Hegner suggested that the board accept the work without requiring a maintenance bond or otherwise have supervisors on the job supply the bond because they all agree that the work is well done.

Use Elsewhere
George L. Smith, architect, said that similar joints had been used in hundreds of other buildings and that approved plans permit the contractor to have variations in foundation levels up to three-quarters of an inch. Board members said the error in the gymnasium wall was as much as two inches in some places.

The board last night approved the maintenance committee's report and recommendations that George Brechlin be engaged as a janitor at the senior high school to succeed Herman Behl who has been transferred.

Negro Slaying Suspect Is Held in Milwaukee

Milwaukee—(AP)—Detective Captain Adolph Kraemer said police were holding today for Arkansas authorities a Negro who gave his name as Willie McGowan, 23, and who confessed he was wanted at Camden, Ark., in connection with a fatal shooting.

Kraemer said McGowan, picked up for routine questioning yesterday, had confessed he shot Charles Cooks, Camden Negro, on July 3, 1935, when Cooks was getting the best of him in a fist fight. Camden authorities were notified last night.

Pope Again Raps 'Battle Against Church' in Reich

Tells Group of German-Hungarian Priests of 'Hour of Persecution'

Castel Gandolfo, Italy—(AP)—Pope Pius spoke out again today to assail "the blind battle against the church of Christ" which, he said, rages on in Nazi Germany.

He gave his "special great blessing" to a group of graduate priests of the German-Hungarian seminary in Rome.

He spoke of this "hour of persecution" in Germany in which, he said, "the church is persecuted because of its love of Christ."

The pontiff congratulated the priests on the work they will return to in Germany, "where a really brave apostolate is needed."

In the general audience which heard the pope's words was the Rev. J. L. Bastion of Grafton, N. D., who was conducting a group of American tourists at the pope's summer residence.

The pope's father has been steadfast and outspoken in his criticism of the German government ever since the time he accused Adolf Hitler's regime of violating the church-state concordat that it signed in 1933.

(In an encyclical letter read from German Catholic pulpits before Easter, the pope charged the Nazi officials were helping anti-Christian movements.)

The pope also feels that the third reich has pledged the word by wooing Catholic people away from the church's teachings and that it is persecuting the entire clergy through widely publicized "immorality trials" of some priests and lay brothers.

(Diplomatic relations between the German government and the holy see virtually are at the breaking point because the Vatican declined to disavow a speech by George Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago, an Austrian paper-hanger, and branded the German immorality trials as atrocity propaganda.)

ferred to a similar position at Jefferson school. The Jefferson school vacancy was caused by the resignation of Charles Prascher because of ill health. The board granted Bert Alvord, janitor, a leave of absence during July. Repairs to a furnace at Richmond school also were authorized.

Trouble Due if Plants Fail to Reopen, Warning

The Gaultier plant, part of the vast Cambria works, is in the western end of Woodville.

Police Head Returns
The chief returned shortly after Mayor Lynn G. Adams, superintendent of the state police, returned to Johnston from Harrisburg and announced he would remain "as long as this emergency exists."

Steel-helmeted state police, some mounted, patrolled the seven entrances to the Cambria plant of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, where the shifts changed at midnight (Eastern standard time) without disorder.

At that hour yesterday evening broke out simultaneously at several gates to the mill and, Governor George H. Earle ordered the trappers in. Mayor Adams asserted they "will be responsible for anything that happens on the picket line."

Vigilance on Duty
More than 100 other officers—vigilantes were posted by a citizens committee headed by Mayor Adams, around and the grounds of Cambria—and several policemen, equipped by the city department of public safety, patrolled downtown and residential streets during the night.

The Steel Workers' Organized Committee, affiliate of the Committee for Industrial Organization, called the strike the "first step" in a "general strike" for the members of the union.

The union men and women on the number of its men in the picket lines.

Just 24 hours before, there had been fierce fighting at the Gaultier plant and there had been dynamiting at Warren One.

Today's blast ended away a large section of concrete walk, and shattered several windows.

Only a few hours earlier there had been oral blasts from Tom Girdler of Republic Steel and Frank Purnell of Youngstown Sheet and Tube—two generals in the fight against the C. I. O. strike.

"Communism" was the way Girdler labeled John L. Lewis, C. I. O. Purcell, president of Sheet and Tube, was not as outspoken.

Downtrodden White Sox Become Pennant Threat

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—If you have any doubt that the world is upset don't just take a look at the standing of the clubs in the American league where the Chicago White Sox are up around the top and going into July.

It seems to me it must be the first time the Sox have been up so high so late in the season since 1920 when Charlie Comiskey, convinced against his will, had to fire seven of his athletes for throwing the World Series the year before and broke up a ball club which was regarded the best ever assembled.

Of course, these are not the same Sox with whom I used to chatter around the league for most of the sterling athletes of that day have been sent to the bonfire years ago. God help them.

They were but the club just wasn't a team and anyway there was always a feeling in the troupe that the management had coppers around reporting how many cornflakes a fellow ate at the breakfast table and whether he hung up his panama in the morning. It made for uneasiness and nerves and surliness among the hands and the managers didn't have much authority either.

The only active hand at the present of whom I have any knowing is Zeke Bonaur, the heavy-hitting first baseman who is new himself, but a throwback to my day, nevertheless. I hear tell of a time when Zeke was fresh up from New Orleans and a fellow on Broadway selling those big zeppelin balloons that come in a paper envelope but blow up the size of a tiger watermelon.

Zeke said he certainly wished he could take one of those home to the folks and Jimmy Dykes said, "Why not?" And Zeke said, "I could never get it into my suitcase."

Tells of Times Shires Would Fight Blackburn
Zeke would have been at home with my White Sox, especially when Lena Blackburn had them and Art Shires, the wonder man and absentee poet, for lack of anything more interesting to do at night would go to the boss' room and smack his cane off. Lena didn't mind very much and it did sort of relieve the monotony.

I think Shires owed his fame mostly to Ed Burns, the baseball writer of the Chicago Tribune, who spotted him as material the minute he came into the training camp that spring and started writing horrible poetry in his name. Every other day he would write one of these poems and they were bad enough at the start, but as Ed warmed up they got worse and presently developed into the worst poems the world had ever known.

Art entered into the spirit of the thing, set himself a pose as an eccentric and never did unkind himself, although he might have been a very fair ball player if he hadn't undertaken to be an act on and off. One time I caught the White Sox in New York on the last trip of the season when they were in a terrible tussle with the Red Sox for eighth place. The first day they played a double-header with the Yankees that ran to about 28 innings before they were licked. Then we went to Boston for four days and broke even and the total gate wasn't enough to pay for the balls, let alone the fares and hotel expenses.

Fanes Would Send
Comical Telegrams to Writers
Then our club lost three out of four to Connie Mack while Boston lost the same to Cleveland or somebody and, finally in Washington, our White Sox dropped them all and clinched eighth place to the derisive sneers of a small company of pass-trade. By that time the entire civilized world had lost interest in the top of the league where the Yankees were seven or eight lengths in front and was rooting for either our White Sox or the Red Sox to win eighth place.

We would get comical telegrams at night telling our athletes that Chicago was counting on them to bring home, not the bacon but the kind, and the poor players were so disgusted and downhearted that they were not speaking to anybody. It wasn't funny to our wage earners who realized that they had to look the boss in the eye at contract time next winter and wondered whether they would still be in the league.

But we always took it for granted that the White Sox would finish either seventh or eighth and their ambitions never ran higher than sixth, even at the start of the season. They seemed to belong way down and Center and the league and everybody would emit sarcastic remarks about our lads if they put on a sport and moved up to fifth for a day.

They used to say, "Our White Sox have won 12 out of 14 and are crowding the Yankees. If that can happen anything can happen here."

Summer Program Being Outlined For Weyauwega

Softball Teams Will be Entered in County Junior Tournament

Weyauwega—Children interested in summer playground work have been requested to report to Coach Ronald Murray at Weyauwega High school at 8 o'clock Monday morning.

Softball leagues will be organized. Teams will be entered in the county junior softball tournament. There will be life-saving tests at the beach for beginners and for other swimmers who wish to qualify for various certificates. Instruction in tennis is contemplated from 6 to 8 o'clock in the evening.

The tentative program for the summer is as follows: At the school—softball, volleyball, touch football, boxing, horseshoe pitching, basketball and touch ball. There will be sand boxes for the younger children who do not care to enter into any other activity.

In the afternoon from 1 to 5 o'clock Coach Murray will be at the bathing beach for swimming classes. Awards will be given to boys and girls who have best attendance records during summer.

The combined bands of New London and Weyauwega High schools will present a concert at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, when the new band stand in Weyauwega will be dedicated. The concert to be presented by the 80-piece band will include the following numbers:

"His Honor," march, Fillmore; "Grandiose" overture, DeLamater; "Hall of Fame" concert march, Olafstad; "Panora," overture, Holmes; "March of Youth," concert march, Olafstad; "Scarlet Mask," overture, Zomlefer; "Klono," march, Fillmore; "The Star Spangled Banner."

Opposed to Carnival Appearance in City

Adherence to the city ordinance regarding carnival appearances in the city is asked in a letter received this morning by Mayor Goodland from the Theatrical Employees' union. Letters protesting appearances of carnivals within the city also have been received by the mayor from the Appleton Chamber of Commerce and the Appleton Ministerial association. The city ordinance places a high fee on carnivals, presumably for the purpose of discouraging them from showing in the city.

Heilig Leaves For Summer School Post

Herb Heilig, Appleton Vocational school director, left Tuesday for Ft. Collins Col., where he will be a member of the Colorado State Teachers college faculty for the school's 8-week summer session. This is the eighth summer during which Mr. Heilig has served on the faculty.

Flag Symbolizes Security Of Americans, Speaker Says

The stars and stripes are symbolic of the security of the greatest and truest government in the world, Raymond P. Dohr, leading knight of the Elks lodge, told several hundred persons who attended the Elks Flag day program last night at Pierce park. The program also included a concert by the 120th Field Artillery band.

Dohr said the flag is a symbol that makes our hearts beat in quick time and tells us, even in troublous times, that we have nothing to fear as long as the flag and our government endures. Its heritage, he said, is steeped in the blood of our founders, washed in the purity of their noble purposes and dyed in the blue of their steadfastness. It has been handed down to us with reverent hands that we keep it unsullied and inviolate.

"It is the shining light of our constitution, the bulwark of our freedom that sends a message of hope to the oppressed and down-trodden, those who have never known true freedom," the speaker said. "Men have fought for countless ages under many flags against tyranny and oppression, unlawful agrandizement and power, but the citizens of America are today enjoying the fruits of mighty labor, freedom and liberty of thought, word and expression, property and home, security and peace."

Trace Flag History
He traced the history of the flag from June 14, 1777, when congress adopted the flag with thirteen alternate red and white stripes and white stars in a blue field. The only changes that have been made, Dohr said, was to add stars for each new state that joined the Union. He described the other flags held by the colonies until Betsy Ross made the first standard banner.

In July, 1908 the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks provided for the observance of Flag day on June 14 and the observance of the day is mandatory for each subordinate lodge, the speaker said. It is the only fraternal organization that requires celebration of the day.

O. J. Thompson, warrant officer, directed the band during the concert. The program opened with the playing of "Military Symphony" by J. Haydn and a march, Herbert E. Lutz and George H. Acker played a trumpet duet and the various versions of "Home Sweet Home" followed. The composer, J. B. Lampe described the manner in which the song is played in different countries, including England, Germany, Spain, Russia, Italy, Scotland, Hungary, China, Ireland and America.

Playing of "The Blue Flag" by Carl-Johans Band and "The Elks March" followed. "Over There," arranged by M. L. Lake and a group of World War selections also were played. The "United States Field Artillery March" by J. P. Sousa was the last on the program which closed with playing of "America Forever" and the "Star Spangled Banner."

WPA Workers Lay 150,645 Feet of Sewer in District

Represent Large Portion of Construction in This Area

WPA workers have laid 150,645 feet of sewer and 57,282 feet of water mains, and constructed 500 manholes and 108 catch basins in cities and villages in district No. 2, which includes Outagamie county, according to Mark Muth, district director.

"The construction of sewers and water mains represents a large portion of the WPA work in this district," Muth said. "At the present time, 797 workers are employed by the WPA at this type of work."

"Sewer and water systems have been installed in many villages which were without modern conveniences, before the WPA program made possible this construction, and facilities have been extended to many outlying sections of the cities. More than a third of the total mileage for this district was installed in the city of Oshkosh, and three sewer projects now are operating there, employing 176 WPA workers."

On June 1, three sewer construction projects, employing 147 men, were operating at Green Bay, three in Manitowish, employing 106 men, and 112 men were employed on two projects in Marinette.

Work Summary

A summary of the total amount of sewer and water main construction in this area follows:

Appleton, 5,182 feet of sewers and 10 manholes.

Kaukauna, 9,347 feet of sewers, 15,439 feet of water mains, 24 manholes and 11 catch basins.

Kimberly, 3,169 feet of water mains and 12 manholes.

Little Chute, 7,079 feet of sewers, 6,084 feet of water mains and 31 manholes.

Hilbert, Calumet county, 1,603 feet of water mains.

Oshkosh, Winnebago county, 54,959 feet of sewers, 3,773 feet of water mains and 230 manholes.

IT'S ODD But It's Science

BY HOWARD BLAKESLEE

Philadelphia—(AP)—Scene, a home. Time, later this century. Woman's voice.

"Call the plumber quick. The lights are leaking."

She refers to something like 3-amino-phythol-hydrazine. This is the newest cold light chemical. Add it to a glass of water and you can read a printed page by the heatless, firefly glow from the water.

The chemical is expensive, $80 a pound, and anyhow is not efficient enough to enable the plumber to pipe cold light into your home. But it shows what may be coming sooner than expected. The Franklin Institute's science lecturer, Richard V. Thayer and R. H. Duce, are demonstrating it this year in a hundred cities.

It is all light, no heat. They make it flame six inches high and stuff the flames into their pockets without scorching the cloth.

Today and Tomorrow

BY WALTER LIPPMAN

The Reactionary Steel Companies

The industrial war around certain of the independent steel plants has just about reached the stage where public opinion is becoming too much excited about the atrocities to think about the issues. Yet there never was a war without atrocities and there never was a bitter strike in which both sides did not act in a lawless spirit, committing acts of their own supporters that are wholly indefensible.

Nothing is to be gained by de-lambling about the atrocities. Nothing is to be gained by attempting to judge whether the actions on the one side or the other are the more aggressive. There is no real sure for these things except to end such struggles and to prevent them in the future. And that cannot be done unless the responsible people of the community take their minds off the riots and the tear gas and the threats at the factory gates and fix their minds upon the issues which have produced the trouble.

This particular problem has arisen because certain independent steel companies are refusing to do what 140 other steel companies have already done—namely to sign a contract with the C. I. O. union, recognizing it as the agency for collective bargaining on behalf of those employees of the company who belong to the C. I. O. union. We have the word of the companies and of Mr. Lewis that the signing of such a contract is the sole issue in this strike. For the companies are willing to bargain with the union. But what they are not willing to do is to sign a contract which says that they must bargain with the union.

On This Point the Whole Trouble Seems to Hinge

On this point the whole trouble hinges, and because of it eight men have died violent deaths in Chicago, there are armed mobs in several of the steel towns, and there is danger of much worse things to come.

We must, therefore, ask ourselves why these few steel companies are refusing to sign a contract requiring them to do what they are nevertheless willing to do. Their reasons were set forth in statements by the Republic Steel Company on May 26 and by the Youngstown Sheet and Tube on May 27. Their fundamental objection is that if they sign such a contract with Mr. Lewis now, it will strengthen his influence, and that then he will close the shop and the check-off. The closed shop is one in which only union members may work. The check-off is a device by which the employer deducts union dues from the pay envelope and hands them over to the union officials.

No Doubt They Will Condemn These Also

Though Mr. Philip Murray, one of the C. I. O. leaders, denies that the closed shop and the check-off are at issue in this strike, there is little doubt that as soon as the unions are strong enough they will make these demands. The companies seem to think they can weaken the C. I. O. by defeating Mr. Lewis' claim for formal recognition in a written contract. The heart of the immediate question would, therefore, appear to be the belief, shared by both the companies and by Mr. Lewis, that a written contract will enhance the C. I. O. influence until it is dominant in the plant.

If Mr. Lewis did not think that he would not fight so bitterly for a contract. If the companies did not think that they would not fight so bitterly against the contract.

But the larger question, it seems to me, turns on how one believes that industrial peace is to be promoted. Mr. Girdler and his associates believe that the road to peace is through keeping the unions weak. That is the essence of their policy. The other view is that the road to peace is through strong unions which acquire and are compelled to acknowledge the responsibilities that go with power. That is the policy of the leading industrialists in steel who have signed contracts with Mr. Lewis.

No Doubt, to Him, Which Is the Wisest Choice

This is the choice we are offered, and for my own part I have no doubt as to which of the two I view the wiser policy. Mr. Girdler is fighting a rear-guard action in which victory would be just about as unsatisfactory as defeat. For while he might be able to keep the union too weak to dominate his workers, there is no likelihood of its being too weak to cause continual trouble.

On the other hand, the steel companies which have made contracts are at least in a position to ask that the letter and the spirit of the conceivable except where the right to organize had been universally accepted. The British have been able to regulate the unions because they accept them as normal and necessary. They could not have regulated them if the unions were what Mr. Girdler would like them to be, weak, disorganized, and still fighting to exist.

So because we must move toward the regulation of labor unions, it is reactionary to wage the kind of fight these independent steel companies are waging. They are delaying progress toward the only constructive solution that the modern nations have found, and to no good purpose whatever they are embittering the temper of the nation.

Defies Demand for Dry Law Enforcement

Augusta, Ga. —(AP)—Colonel R. L. Chambers, Sr., director of Augusta's police department, defied demands for enforcement of Georgia's bone dry laws Tuesday and declared licensed whisky will be sold here "as long as I have anything to do with it."

Chambers' stand thrust to the fore the question of municipal "home rule" on the liquor issue. The drys won a statewide repeal referendum last week by a majority of more than 8,200 votes but Augusta went wet; 4,698 to 827 or better than five to one.

Chambers spoke in answer to demands for strict enforcement from church leaders who have asked impeachment of officers who do not back the state's 22-year-old prohibition law.

For several years Augusta has issued annual licenses for retail beverage dealers and holders of these permits have been allowed to sell drinks of all kinds in addition to beer and wine, which are legal. The latest list showed 42 such licenses issued.

Delay is Seen Before Final Action on Bill

Measure Would Give Commercial Fishing Control to State Board

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—Considerable delay before final action is taken by the state senate on a bill by Frank N. Graess of Sturgeon Bay to place control of all commercial fishing in outlying waters in the hands of the state conservation commission was seen Monday as the result of action by the upper house referring the measure to a committee.

Passed by an almost unanimous vote by the assembly two weeks ago without debate, the bill was immediately sent to the senate by its author. There it, was placed on the calendar of business of a week ago Tuesday. On that morning, because there were important administration bills in the office, the senators voted to lay the bill aside temporarily. Thursday they voted to send the bill to a committee on state and local government, which may or may not report the measure out in the next two or three weeks.

Direct Opposite

The bill is the direct opposite of another engrossed by the senate a few weeks ago which would set up a new state agency to handle the problems of the commercial fishing industry, a bureau of fisheries managed by practical commercial fishermen. Senators John Cashman of Denmark and Michael F. Kresky of Green Bay battled for the approval of that bill, and to be consistent they will be forced to oppose the Graess measure.

The two measures are the result of widely varying theories of the course of action necessary for the preservation of the Green Bay and Great Lakes fishing industry. Graess proposes to place full power in the conservation department because he feels the problems merit consideration by a staff of neutral, experienced experts. Green Bay and other fishermen, however, protest bitterly, declaring that the conservation department's policies are detrimental to their interests and the interests of sound conservation. Accordingly they have sponsored the bureau bill, upon which the legislature as yet has shown no eagerness to act.

At present the legislature makes the laws governing the commercial fishing business, while the administration of those laws is the responsibility of the conservation department. Graess feels that the legislature is not competent to judge the needs of an industry as complicated and technical as that of fishing, that contradictory laws are frequently passed by succeeding legislatures, and that emergency legislation is often buried in the rush of other business to the loss of the industry. Blanket power granted to the conservation department is the only solution, he feels.

In the meantime the fishermen are firm in their contention that no one knows their problems or the solution of those problems better than they do themselves and continue their agitation for a bureau of fisheries.

Mrs. Roosevelt Could be Taxed On Charity Gifts

Law Permits Only 15 Per Cent Deduction, Lawrence Explains

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt discussed with the newspaper correspondents a day or so ago her income tax returns, and said:

"On every penny of income I have received, I've paid my full tax."

No other taxpayers enjoy the advantage which Mrs. Roosevelt has for other taxpayers must not only pay taxes on every penny they receive, but on every penny they earn.

Mrs. Roosevelt has told the public that all of the income she earns by speaking over the radio goes to charity. Early in 1933, the question of taxes came up and a contract was entered into with an agent by which Mrs. Roosevelt agreed to speak over the radio for a certain fee for each broadcast and the checks for the services she rendered were to be made out directly to the charities she designated.

the assignment of income to third parties, the official ruling of the bureau is as follows:

"Cases in which one person contracts to perform services for a second person, and it is agreed that the remuneration therefor shall be paid to a third party. The receipt of the third party must be held to be a constructive receipt by the person performing the services."

Same Rule Applies

"Income, whether it is derived from labor, from the use of capital, or from the sale of capital assets in each case income, and the same rules with regard to constructive receipt apply in all cases."

"The ruling as above set forth represents the position which this office has consistently held."

Undoubtedly, Mrs. Roosevelt has interpreted the law as it ought to be and most people will concur in her view that, if she doesn't actually receive the money, she ought not to pay taxes upon it. But the rules of the internal revenue bureau are the law today and other taxpayers who attempt to assign their income to a third party and thus have it excluded from their own gross income would probably come into collision with the internal revenue bureau.

The fact that the taxpayer does not actually possess the money for a single instant does not seem to have altered the view which the courts have held of such cases. Thus, the late Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, the great liberal, speaking on behalf of a unanimous supreme court of the United States dealt with this aspect of the matter in a certain case several years ago when he said in a formal opinion:

Find No Distinction

"There is no doubt that the statute could tax salaries to those who earned them and provide that the tax could not be escaped by anticipatory arrangements and contracts however skillfully devised to prevent the salary when paid from vesting even for a second in the man who earned it."

"That seems to us to be the import of the statute before us and we think that no distinction can be taken according to the motives leading to the arrangement by which the fruits are attributed to a different tree from that on which they grew."

Mrs. Roosevelt is lucky that she can assign checks to charity amounting to so large a part of the income from the services she renders and avoid taxation herself. In one year, she is estimated to have earned $90,000 for charities. Any other individual would be in hot water if he diverted so large a part of his income to charity. The law allows a 15 per cent reduction for charity. In other words, out of the $90,000 earned by Mrs. Roosevelt, for example, she could deduct about a little less than one-sixth as a charity deduction, and, on the balance, namely about $76,500, she would have to pay a personal tax, and then from whatever she had left after the payment of a tax she could give as much to charity as she desired.

What Mrs. Roosevelt may not have discovered as yet is that the government of the United States assumes the right to do its own charity-giving and that the taxpayer is gradually losing that privilege because of the large sums taken in taxes. Only 15 per cent is the allowable deduction now for charity. If the case of Mrs. Roosevelt serves to emphasize that a taxpayer ought to be able to escape taxes if he gives all his income to charity, every charitable institution, university, hospital, and community chest in the country would rejoice. Perhaps Mrs. Roosevelt's interpretation of the law will lead to an amendment by the bureau of internal revenue of the rules that apply to other taxpayers who do not en-

THE SWEDISH MATCH KING IN OUR TREASURY

Apropos of Congressman Schneider's concern over our constantly increasing gold supply purchased at $35 an ounce it might be appropriate to say that our record in regard to silver is much worse.

Congress, in 1934, authorized the treasury to buy silver until our stock of that metal reached one-third our stock of gold.

Gold, as everyone should know, has had a relatively stable record throughout the centuries. Nothing has been so steady. That is why and how it has proven itself a reliable standard, at least the most reliable we can find. But silver has been a hoyden, a dancing, flirting, well-rouged hussy. It has been little more dependable than oats or corn or copper. It is used widely for commercial purposes and it is mined widely because there is so much more of it than gold.

While a jeweler or silversmith could buy this metal for 45 cents an ounce our government bought hundreds of millions of ounces and paid a price that ran from about 65 to 80 cents an ounce.

This price was paid by the sweat of American labor, genius and accomplishments. And it put an awful cheap price upon all three.

As a result we have spent hundreds of millions of our money for silver, stored it away in vaults, and it isn't worth more than about 60 per cent of what we paid for it.

That is not merely inflation. It is mushroom nonsense.

When Ivar Krueger was found out, the great match king killed himself. Yet most of his offense was comparable to our government's. He borrowed great quantities of money on a bond issue in this country by putting up with the trustee certain bonds as security but with the privilege of withdrawing the bonds, "replacing them with other similar securities" but the stuff he replaced the sound bonds with consisted of cheap securities of the Jugo-Slavia, Rumanian, order and in some instances downright forgeries. The investors lost because the security had been depleted and frittered away.

In the case of our own treasury practices we are one step worse than Ivar Krueger because our security was never even worth the money. We just said it was so as to feel better.

A NEW YORKER TALKS IN PARIS

Governor Smith retains his refreshing ability to abridge great principles into sentences that everyone may read with relish and understand upon the first reading.

Speaking before the American Club at Paris recently the New Yorker declared that he was a Jeffersonian Democrat, "which means I am for the kind of government that can't be changed unless the people want it changed."

Comparing the American system with the European trend in government Mr. Smith added that many people had sacrificed liberty to obtain what they considered as security, but, with a razor keenness, he cut away all the camouflage from that declaration so constantly dinned into everyone's ears by adding, "This system is likely to be dangerous because they wake up some day and find they have lost both liberty and security."

This government of ours we all stoutly declare in Mr. Smith's language shall not be changed unless the people want it changed; and then we snugly submit to policies and support leaders who change it right in front of our eyes without ever consulting the people or by that other piece of sleight-of-hand, reading into the people's votes "a mandate" to do whatever the elected officials want to do and in open defiance of the very promises upon which they were elected.

TURNING ALIENS OUT OF SPAIN

General Franco by his offer to withdraw all foreigners from his regions if the Reds in Spain did likewise has served to rebuff more false propaganda than may be washed out by a series of magazine articles.

The Reds have pretended with pitiful men that they were attacked by German and Italian hordes sent by Hitler and Mussolini. It seemed there was some evidence to support the charge.

But the Rebels have claimed they were attacked by French and Russian hordes sent by Blum and Stalin, and also by all those wild and desperate scourgings turned out of every country in Europe and forced to wander from pillar to post.

General Franco's offer to send home all foreigners if the Reds will do the same is tantamount to saying that the Reds have more foreigners than he. For the general is altogether too clever to give up the whip hand or the clear advantage merely because a charge of some kind is made.

If both sides under the direction of Britain agree to these terms how could the accord be put into execution? How could Italians be identified from Spain? Or French? Of course, Germans and Russians might more easily be singled out and sent home but the plan as applied to the rest sounds rather impractical.

KNEE-DEEP IN JUNE AND DEBTS

Our own good American poet, Bryant, to the contrary notwithstanding, the melancholy days are here.

And melancholy days really belong to the time when the wind is whipping the leaves from off the trees and nature is preparing to curl up for a winter's sleep.

The time has come and gone for a semi-annual payment by a cluster of European nations on their so-called war debts to America. These nations quit sticking tongues out at each other and tongued their check at us in lieu of payment.

But we can hardly blame them for their default since they have so many troops to clothe and feed, so many Krupps and Schneiders to maintain, and so many submarines and dreadnaughts to keep in shape as against the fatal hour.

There is attributed to the French a declaration like this: When you are born thick-headed you stay that way for a long time.

It may be immaterial whether we were born thick-headed here in America or became that way under the propaganda and the money paid in fist which induced us to enter the war but we propose that America turn over a new leaf and convince the world that there are exceptions to the French saying that one may be thick-headed on occasion and come out of it as a sleeper wakes when a bucket of cold water is doused on him.

Europe is now a bit wary of us as a hunter who stalks game and is not sure that the object of his hunt is conscious of his presence and his plans. Only a very few months ago, and in spite of the Johnson act prohibiting defaulting nations from borrowing in this country, France which is now about to again devalue its money and is running its affairs in the reckless way of all socialism, was at our door for another loan—and nearly got it.

Her method was astute but no more so than the customary technique of all European chancelleries. The plan was to sell French bonds with interest payable in dollars through a fiscal agent like Morgan & Company which has offices in several nations. Our Secretary of the Treasury was all the French could ask. Morgenthau thought it was a fine plan but he was cautious enough to somewhat stay on the fence although there should never be a fence in the treasury of the United States.

The day was saved by Borah and Johnson. When the latter declared that "It is unspeakable that any officer of our government would seek to evade the law," Morgenthau clicked to attention and the French effort was over.

We still insist, as we did last year and the year before, that we must make a ceremonial out of our experience in the last war, and something more than a ceremonial of firing the last volley over the grave of a departed veteran.

We need the Rite of the Debts.

We need an annual period for consideration of the hopelessness of war as evidenced by our own idealistic and magnificent but futile effort to end war.

Our people need to know that if we were paid what was actually due us we would practically have no debt of our own despite the extravagance of the Roosevelt regime. For the 12 billions at which we set European debts were established at that figure only after the most generous slicing of principal and the erasure of billions of interest.

We must not mean the loss of this great treasure owned by the people of America. We must not go through this ceremonial to keep alive the slightest resentment against a European nation.

The war was against us, like the debts owed us, may be forgiven but the lesson should never be forgotten.

The need for such a ceremonial was made all the more manifest by the easy-going equivocal conduct of our own cabinet members during the recent effort of France for another loan.

Will Rogers used to say that America never lost a war and never won a conference.

Only through the Rite of the Debts may we hope to amend the Rogers'quip.

THE POST-MOUSTEN

IN the stress of getting excited over C.I.O. terrorism, your correspondent has neglected a few important dates . . . one was flag day on Monday and I completely forgot that it will probably be just a matter of time until we replace the forty-eight stars with the new coat of arms of the United States . . . I don't know just exactly what the coat of arms will look like, but it probably will be a wild jackass rampant on a merry-go-round flanked on either side by pigs at dinner . . . the other day to be brought up somewhat tardily is Finland day, the day when the Finns paid their semi-annual installment on their debt to the United States . . . that was yesterday . . .

DAGUERREOTYPES

The refrain from an old song Comes back across the years . . . it crept along Between the lines Of the book one reads in tears. . . "Gone With the Wind" Here's a laurel simply placed. To the author who could write Those tragedies, superbly traced!

I hear my mother repeat the song: "My brave laddie sleeps In his faded coat of blue. In his lonely grave unknown, Lies a heart that beats so true." . . . "Gone With the Wind" Bring it home to you. —JANE PATRICIA MCCARTHY

MAYBE I HAVE SOMETHING HERE

The evil thought occurred to me the other day that Mr. But might find it considerably easier to settle the steel strike troubles later on than to handle them while they're so hot. After all, the boys on each side are tiring out to quite some extent, and they'll be less troublesome to bring to terms. If the Roosevelt tuck holds out, and the president can pick the right moment to step in, all will be lovely again in Washington and Mr. Farley can breathe easy once more.

How he can mediate any trouble is, of course, not precisely clear. After all, the steel companies are not violating even the one-sided Wagner act in refusing to sign contracts. At the same time, C. I. O. organizing has been done on the basis that C. I. O. contributed a half million (since when has that been big money in Washington) to the Roosevelt campaign fund, and that the president is solidly behind C. I. O.

If eventual mediation under Roosevelt guidance fails to give every break to C. I. O., he will be in the position of having turned traitor on the boys.

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

NOW JIMMY IS AWAY

Into his quiet tidy room
Inquiring sunbeams stray,
As if they'd like to gild the gloom,
Now Jimmy is away.

There are no clothes flung hastily
Upon his closet floor,
There is no extra work for me;
Disorder reigns no more.

Dad has the paper all intact;
His ties are always there,
And drawers once hurriedly ransacked
Are orderly and fair.

But how we miss his happy grin
That brightened every day,
How gloomily the days begin,
Now Jimmy is away!

How long the hours! How dark the night!
He only can restore
Our lives to former dear delights,
When he comes home once more!

HOW LIBERAL IS SO CALLED LIBERALISM?

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

IMMUNITY VERSUS RESISTANCE

I can't for the life of me see, writes a man who has had tuberculosis for ten years, why you are so rabid against the word "resistance."

The correspondent then quotes from a textbook of pathology for nurses and from another textbook of anatomy and physiology, to show that medical authors confuse "immunity" with "resistance" or use the terms loosely and interchangeably. Further he cites the definition of the word "immunity" given in Webster's freedom or exemption from any charge, duty, obligation etc. This would suggest, the correspondent maintains, merely a passive state; whereas resistance conveys the idea of active opposition. Moreover, in all his experience with physicians in tuberculosis hospitals and in private practice, no one has ever seemed to make any such to-do over the precise use of the words as I do. Correspondent enjoys this column and profits by it, but wishes he could see the light, if there is any that will clearly distinguish resistance from immunity.

Now, listen. It matters little which term you apply, only so you know what you mean. Many casual or thoughtless readers have accused me of similar finicking in my effort to make people cri-conscious and persuade them to live by the golden rule of hygiene. The authorities cited by the correspondent and plenty of greater authorities, have messed up the significance of the terms immunity and resistance so much that it is difficult to clarify the matter now. I have walked many times around my desk and rolled several somersaults pondering how to go about it. Ah, let's see what Steadman's Medical Dictionary has to say about it: Immunity (L. immunus) A state, natural or acquired, in which the body is resistant to disease. This definition will please the tuberculous correspondent. But now let us turn to Resistance. A passive force exerted in opposition to another and active force. Nothing about active opposition to disease here. Not that we need take the dictionary too seriously. Etymologists are not infallible.

My objection to the use of the term "resistance" if you mean immunity or if you don't know what you mean or what you are talking about is merely that it is so misleading and confusing and hinders the spread of knowledge. I have the same objection to the use of the term "cold" or "the common cold" if you mean bronchitis, measles, influenza, infantile paralysis, pneumonia or what not or if you don't know what you mean or what you are talking about.

Nobody can say in any instance whether a person has any "resistance" against a particular disease or against various or all diseases. But a physician can determine in any instance whether a person has any immunity against diphtheria. Six weeks hence I shall have a reasonable degree of immunity against typhoid and paratyphoid fever, because I have received the first of three doses of the "cassine" or bacterin. No one would speak of anti-typhoid inoculation as "increasing resistance"; it is specifically administered to stimulate development of immunity.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Potts Disease
What is Potts disease? Is it curable? (J. F.)
Answer—Tuberculosis of spine.

If taken in time it is curable by (1) absolute physiological rest—application of cast, splint or brace to spine. (2) sunbathing and open air treatment in hospital or sanatorium much like the standard treatment of pulmonary tuberculosis. (3) in some advanced or neglected cases surgical treatment. Spinal tuberculosis is common cause of hunch-back.

Vitamin D for Sinus Trouble
Recently you recommended the use of vitamin D in the nose for chronic sinus trouble and recurring attacks of rhinitis or hayfever-like symptoms? (Mrs. P. J.)
Answer—Yes, two or three drops of a gland oil solution of vitamin D in each nostril two or three times a day gives a good deal of relief in many such cases.

Colter and Fear
Does fear cause goitre or zoitre fear? (C. D.)
Answer—I should say fear may cause goitre, and exophthalmic goitre may give patient expression of fear.

Your Birthday

"GEMINI"
If June 17 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9 to 11 a. m. from 2 to 4 p. m. and from 8 to 10 p. m. The danger periods are from 7 to 9 a. m., from 6 to 8 p. m. and from 10 p. m. until midnight.

Force yourself to act in a good-natured fashion this day if you would avoid a great deal of unpleasantness. Grouchy dispositions will attract trouble. Right will prevail, revealing any erroneous attempts to create enmities, wars, impasses or the attachment of blame where it does not belong. Money-making proclivities are likely to abound and bear favorable results. This should be a most auspicious day for those who depend on their own creative work as a means of livelihood, particularly for those engaged in artistic and literary work. A warm reception is almost sure to be accorded those who make social calls this day, and hosts will be gratified by the appreciation accorded their hospitality. Married and engaged couples, as well as suitors, must refrain from complaining on this day, for any form of grumbling will be very irritating.

If a woman and June 17 is your birthday, you are probably a book-lover and very artistic. Anything relating to the past is apt to interest you to an unusual degree. You have, most likely, an exceptionally agreeable disposition, profound social activities and know how to make yourself delightfully entertaining. While you may not ever have a great amount of wealth, it would seem your financial situation will become very satisfactory, providing an income exceeding your needs. You should take interest in some form of church or social welfare work, for you have much that you can give to both. You perhaps are qualified to teach, paint, play some musical instrument, write or engage in some line of selling. Your married life should be a very happy one, as you ought to be capable of establishing a cheerful home.

The child born on June 17, during adolescence, very likely, will have a very active imagination. Parents must not regard its romancing as a tendency to be untruthful, for this youngster, as it grows older, probably will gain a reputation for truthfulness and dependability.

If a man and June 17 is your natal day, you probably are intellectual, shrewd and very capable. As a journalist, author, engineer, agriculturalist, geologist, salesman or lawyer both fame and wealth is apt to come to you.

George H. Babcock, engineer and inventor.
David Ames Wells, economist.
Abel Parker Upshur, jurist and statesman.
Joshua Humphreys, ship-builder.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY GEORGE TUCKER
New York—The Big Tower, St. Patrick's cathedral, once a landmark in the city, is now completely dwarfed by Radio City. . . . It was just 58 years ago that the cathedral was built. . . . There won't be another theatrical first night of importance until August. . . . Only 388 ball players will be in the major leagues after the 23-man limit goes into effect next month. . . . It seems surprising that there should be more than 10,000 horses racing on American tracks and only five or six hundred jockeys.

That was a dramatic occasion that took place at the American theater conference. After the producers and stars extolled the virtues of the theater a young girl sprang up and demanded a hearing. . . . "What do you mean by this," she cried. "I've tried several years to get into the theater. . . . I can't even belong to Equity. . . . I can't even get into stock, to gain experience. . . . That made everybody drop back in their seats. . . . But, it achieved rich results. . . . Several producers have guaranteed her a hearing. . . . And she'll be given an opportunity to act, if she can act.

Joe Cook has an unusual way of entertaining his guests. . . . He has a number of slot machines on hand, and he furnishes the nickels for his guests to play. . . . What is more, if you hit the jackpot, the money is yours to keep. . . . The name of Cook's country estate is appropriately enough, Sleepless Hollow.

American journalists catch plenty of grief in Hector Bolitho's biography of former King Edward. . . . He puts the blast on them early and attributes much of what happened during the constitutional crisis to their genius for scandal-writing. . . . The best portrait of Edward is by John St. Helier Landor.

Ward Morehouse, who flew to California on Friday and was back the following Monday, returned with a check for $20,000 in his pocket. . . . That's what they gave him for the screen rights to his play, "Miss Quiss."

Jose Turbi, the great pianist and conductor, was rescued from a music hall in Paris by Albert Spalding, the violinist. . . . It was through his efforts that Turbi was brought to America and given a chance to develop his talent.

Nicknames that are picturesque and appropriate: Mickey Cochrane, manager of the Detroit Tigers; "Black Mike," Mickey Walker, ex-pugilist who now runs a restaurant—"The Toy Bulldog"; Lou Ambers, fighter—"The Herkimer Hack-saw"; Carl Hubbell, the pitcher—"Old Long Pants"; Sammy Hale, Cleveland infielder—"Bad News."

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER
Washington—The French are a polite people but when Ambassador Bonnet says in effect that before war debt negotiations can be undertaken the United States must establish its integrity, he is using very raw words.

The United States has bailed France along on this war debt business almost from the beginning. When the debts were refunded in 1925, France's rate of interest was cut sharply below what the treasury was then paying on the money it had raised by liberty loans to pass on to France.

That's real integrity. It is almost charity. Moreover, France got off with a debt settlement far easier than was arranged for Great Britain.

Easy Terms

Now how about France's integrity? That nation buckled under on the debt payments six years ago. There were explanations at the time as to why France could not keep on paying, and there have been explanations every six months since when the semi-annual payments came due.

Nevertheless, Mr. Bonnet, only a few months established here as ambassador, stated in an interview in New Orleans that he was ready to undertake negotiations for settlement of the debt. But first, he said, "each country must be convinced of the basic integrity of the other."

France, it would seem, is not convinced of the "basic integrity" of the United States.

At the time of the 1925 debt refunding, France owed the United States $3,404,000,000 principal and $885,000,000 interest. The debt bore about five per cent interest after the war, the rate set to match that paid on the last American liberty loan.

Then France was given 62 years in which to pay. At five per cent the debt would have amounted to more than nine billion dollars. Instead of charging such a rate the United States agreed to no interest at all for five years—until 1930. Then would come 10 years at one per cent, 10 years at 2 per cent, 8 years at 3 per cent, 7 years at 3 per cent, and 22 years at 3 1/2 per cent. The total bill would be $6,847,674,104.

Cocky Attitude

England, owing $4,800,000,000—a half billion more than France—was asked to pay three per cent from the beginning and 3 1/2 per cent after 1932. The total bill then would be $11,105,000,000—about 60 per cent more than France's.

Nobody doubts that France has been hard pressed with expense and trouble, and her neighbors are not the most orderly. But in spite of these good grounds for expecting sympathy, it sounds amply cocky for France to walk up to her banker and ask about his integrity before she agrees to pay anything on long overdue notes.

5,000 MILES OF RAILROAD
Shanghai, China—(U)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek has drawn up plans for the construction in the next few years of two railway systems, totaling 5,000 miles. That means construction of as many miles as were built in the half century before 1935.

Madison.—For volume of debate for bickering and name calling and generally strained feelings, last week's sessions of the Wisconsin state senate were the outstanding ones of the present term of the legislature.

For the senators last week considered, and fought over, two subjects which lend themselves magnificently to extended talk, the Wisconsin Development authority bill, which would put the state into the utility business, and civil service in the beverage tax division of the state treasury, a bill which has been popping in and out of sight since January.

Progressives who had hoped that the WDA bill would be law by this time, were irked when Senators Phil Nelson, Milwaukee Republican, and Arthur Zimny, Milwaukee Democrat, balked at the last minute and voted with the opposition to lay the bill over to Wednesday of this week. The laying over action was a distinct setback, in the opinion of many, and one Progressive even suggested that Zimny and Nelson have turned against the administration on the measure, "which is now cold as a mackerel."

Nelson was said to be annoyed at the fate of one of his favorite bills in the Progressive assembly, while Zimny was fretful, according to reports, at the Progressives' insistence on withdrawing the civil service bill from his committee for immediate action. Zimny's brother is now employed in the beverage tax division, one of Treasurer Levitan's recent appointees.

Friday the senators resumed their horseplay on a bill designating the Merrill Herald as the official state paper, in which official announcements and departmental regulations of the state government are required to be published.

Senators defused the measure with amendments to change the paper to one in their home districts, ranging from Chippewa Falls to Wisconsin Rapids and Marshfield. Senator James Callan nominated the Fennimore Times, in deference to its publisher, Senator E. J. Roethe. Senator Roethe declined the honor, however, reminding the senate that acceptance would mean that he would be forced to sacrifice his senate seat or his job with his firm.

Not to be outdone by his playful mates, Senator Joseph McDermid, a Ladysmith veterinarian, suggested the name of a small town sheet in his district, "a paper" which is published about once a week, and almost always in English.

Replies from all over the country rewarding Assemblyman Frank N. Graess of Sturgeon Bay for his resolution inviting the Duke and Duchess of Windsor to spend a vacation in Wisconsin. Panels from coast to coast featured the story of the legislature's approval of his resolution. Graess has been informed, with the result, he exults, that "Wisconsin is getting a million dollars worth of publicity."

Graess is now awaiting a reply from the Duke and his wife, to whom certified copies of the resolution have been sent. Since the Duke is reported to reply personally to all congratulatory communications, the Door county assemblyman believes he will not have long to wait.

A conspicuously bald druggist was denouncing the Biemiller consumers' bureau bill and listing its weaknesses and inadequacies before an assembly committee the other day.

As the speaker finished, after an hour of fervent denunciation, a mild-mannered young man in the large audience asked Chairman Edward Kiefer for permission to ask a question.

"Mr. T," he asked, "does your firm handle hair tonic?"

Senator John E. Cashman of Donau has found an ally in his campaign against the department of agriculture and markets in Assemblyman William Rohan of Kaukauna.

Rohan has been extremely critical of the work of the department in recent months, and frequently voices his opinions in the lower house, while Cashman loses no opportunity in the senate to lash the commissioners of the department and the bureau in general.

It is said that Rohan and Assemblyman Mark Cuthin of Appleton, will work together in an attempt to defeat the milk price control bill, recently passed by the senate, when it reaches their chamber. Rohan has promised a battle when the bill comes before the assembly.

A frequent visitor in legislative chambers is A. D. Bolens, "every-out additional compensation, it was revealed here recently.

Ritger was chosen head of the division in January, supposedly on the order of Governor LaFollette, and was offered extra compensation, but he declined, according to reports.

His salary as purchasing director for the state is $5,000 a year.

Assemblyman Leo T. Niemuth of the second Winnebago county district said Saturday that he plans to take over some of the bills which Assemblyman Nels Larson was working on before his recent illness and death.

Niemuth also renewed his invitation to the citizens of Neenah and Menasha to bring their problems to him in the absence of an assembly representative of their own.

Facetious compliments were tendered during the week's bitter senate debates to Senator Roland E. Kannerberg of Wausau. Kannerberg, who as one senator put it, had "been getting into senators' hair" for several days, at one point was called "a bore" by Senator Frank Panzer of Oakfield. Gem of them all was offered by Senator Kenneth White of River Falls, who soberly declared that the Wausau solon combined the generalship of Julius Caesar, William the Conqueror and Napoleon Bonaparte rolled into one; the oratorical gifts of Demosthenes; Stephen A. Douglas and William Jennings Bryan.

and the statesmanship of Disraeli, Bismarck and Theodore Roosevelt.

Other senators, however, expressed disgust with the procrastination of the senate. At one point Senator Herman J. Severson of Waupaca county, senior member in point of service, declared angrily that "the condition of the calendar is a disgrace. It is the worst calendar in the United States. We're just not getting anywhere and it's costing the taxpayers $1,000 a day to run this sideshow."

Governor LaFollette the other day received his first contribution for the 1938 campaign, which campaign is unknown. It was a lone dollar bill mailed by a Madison admirer, who hoped that "next year you will be a candidate for either governor or United States senator."

The old prerequisites for success, individual initiative, self confidence based on proper preparation, consciousness of duty, loyalty to ideals, honesty and devotion to God and country still hold good, Justice Joseph Martin, Green Bay member of the supreme court, told members of the graduating class of Madison College last week.

A farm association in South Dakota distributed 7,000 posters in rural areas urging farmers to "play safe, plant feed crops."

State Completes Work to Prevent Damage by Borers

This Year's Campaign Confined to 16 Farms in Five Counties

This year's campaign to prevent the corn borer from doing commercial damage in Wisconsin was confined to 16 farms in five counties and was completed last week, E. L. Chambers, state entomologist, stated in a report received today by R. C. Swanson, county agricultural agent.

The cleanup of borer infestations was conducted on a total of 687 acres in Ozaukee, Sheboygan, Manitowish, Kewaunee, and Door counties. Chambers said, with the number of infestations being considerably less than last year when it was necessary to carry on the cleanup campaign in 152 fields in 12 counties.

Manitowish and Sheboygan counties each had five infested fields, Ozaukee three, Door two, and Kewaunee one.

The first step in exterminating the corn borer from these fields was taken last fall when farmers residing on those lands plowed under all stubble to prevent its being used as over-wintering quarters for corn borer larvae.

If the larvae are permitted to pass the winter in the stubble they develop when spring arrives, first into an inactive pupal stage and then into adult moths ready to deposit their eggs on growing corn late in June and throughout July.

Chambers pointed out that after the final spring dragging, it is the practice of the farmers to pick up all stubble or stalks left on the infested fields and burn them.

The cleanups were supervised this spring by A. L. Piller, deputy nursery inspector of the department.

THE SWEDISH MATCH KING IN OUR TREASURY

Appropos of Congressman Schneider's concern over our constantly increasing gold supply purchased at $35 an ounce it might be appropriate to say that our record in regard to silver is much worse.

Congress, in 1934, authorized the treasury to buy silver until our stock of that metal reached one-third our stock of gold.

Gold, as everyone should know, has had a relatively stable record throughout the centuries. Nothing has been so steady. That is why and how it has proven itself a reliable standard, at least the most reliable we can find. But silver has been a hoyden, a dancing, flirting, well-rouged hussy. It has been little more dependable than oats or corn or copper. It is used widely for commercial purposes and it is mined widely because there is so much more of it than gold.

While a jeweler or silversmith could buy this metal for 45 cents an ounce our government bought hundreds of millions of ounces and paid a price that ran from about 65 to 80 cents an ounce.

This price was paid by the sweat of American labor, genius and accomplishments. And it put an awful cheap price upon all three.

As a result we have spent hundreds of millions of our money for silver, stored it away in vaults, and it isn't worth more than about 60 per cent of what we paid for it.

That is not merely inflation. It is mushroom nonsense.

When Ivar Krueger was found out, the great match king killed himself. Yet most of his offense was comparable to our government's. He borrowed great quantities of money on a bond issue in this country by putting up with the trustee certain bonds as security but with the privilege of withdrawing the bonds, "replacing them with other similar securities" but the stuff he replaced the sound bonds with consisted of cheap securities of the Jugo-Slavia, Rumanian, order and in some instances downright forgeries. The investors lost because the security had been depleted and frittered away.

In the case of our own treasury practices we are one step worse than Ivar Krueger because our security was never even worth the money. We just said it was so as to feel better.

A NEW YORKER TALKS IN PARIS

Governor Smith retains his refreshing ability to abide great principles into sentences that everyone may read with relish and understand upon the first reading.

Speaking before the American Club at Paris recently the New Yorker declared that he was a Jeffersonian Democrat, "which means I am for the kind of government that can't be changed unless the people want it changed."

Comparing the American system with the European trend in government Mr. Smith added that many people had sacrificed liberty to obtain what they considered as security, but, with a razor keenness, he cut away all the camouflage from that declaration so constantly dinned into everyone's ears by adding, "This system is likely to be dangerous because they wake up some day and find they have lost both liberty and security."

This government of ours we all stoutly declare in Mr. Smith's language shall not be changed unless the people want it changed and then we smugly submit to policies and support leaders who change it right in front of our eyes without ever consulting the people or by that other piece of sleight-of-hand, reading into the people's votes "a mandate" to do whatever the elected officials want to do and in open defiance of the very promises upon which they were elected.

TURNING ALIENS OUT OF SPAIN

General Franco by his offer to withdraw all foreigners from his legions if the Reds in Spain did likewise has served to rebuff more false propaganda than may be washed out by a series of magazine articles.

The Reds have pretended with pitiful men that they were attacked by German and Italian hordes sent by Hitler and Mussolini. It seemed there was some evidence to support the charge.

But the Rebels have claimed they were attacked by French and Russian hordes sent by Blum and Stalin, and also by all those wild and desperate scourgings turned out of every country in Europe and forced to wander from pillar to post.

General Franco's offer to send home all foreigners if the Reds will do the same is tantamount to saying that the Reds have more foreigners than he. For the general is altogether too clever to give up the whip hand or the clear advantage merely because a charge of some kind is made.

If both sides under the direction of Britain agree to these terms how could the accord be put into execution? How could Italians be identified from Spainards? Or French? Of course, Germans and Russians might more easily be singled out and sent home but the plan as applied to the rest sounds rather impractical.

KNEE-DEEP IN JUNE AND DEBTS

Our own good American poet, Bryant, to the contrary notwithstanding, the melancholy days are here.

And melancholy days really belong to the time when the wind is whipping the leaves from off the trees and nature is preparing to curl up for a winter's sleep.

The time has come and gone for a semi-annual payment by a cluster of European nations on their so-called war debts to America. These nations quit sticking tongues out at each other and tongued their cheek at us in lieu of payment.

But we can hardly blame them for their default since they have so many troops to clothe and feed, so many Krupps and Schneiders to maintain, and so many submarines and dreadnaughts to keep in shape as against the fatal hour.

There is attributed to the French a declaration like this: When you are born thick-headed you stay that way for a long time.

It may be immaterial whether we were born thick-headed here in America or became that way under the propaganda and the money paid in fist which induced us to enter the war but we propose that America turn over a new leaf and convince the world that there are exceptions to the French saying that one may be thick-headed on occasion and come out of it as a sleeper wakes when a bucket of cold water is doused on him.

Europe is now a bit wary of us as a hunter who stalks game and is not sure that the object of his hunt is conscious of his presence and his plans. Only a very few months ago, and in spite of the Johnson act prohibiting defaulting nations from borrowing in this country, France which is now about to again devalue its money and is running its affairs in the reckless way of all socialism, was at our door for another loan—and nearly got it.

Her method was astute but no more so than the customary technique of all European chancelleries. The plan was to sell French bonds with interest payable in dollars through a fiscal agent like Morgan & Company which has offices in several nations. Our Secretary of the Treasury was all the French could ask. Morgenthau thought it was a fine plan but he was cautious enough to somewhat stay on the fence although there should never be a fence in the treasury of the United States.

The day was saved by Borah and Johnson. When the latter declared that "It is unspeakable that any officer of our government would seek thus to evade the law," Morgenthau clicked to attention and the French effort was over.

We still insist, as we did last year and the year before, that we must make a ceremonial out of our experience in the last war, and something more than a ceremonial of firing the last volley over the grave of a departed veteran.

We need the Rite of the Debts.

We need an annual period for consideration of the hopelessness of war as evidenced by our own idealistic and magnificent but futile effort to end war.

Our people need to know that if we were paid what was actually due us we would practically have no debt of our own despite the extravagance of the Roosevelt regime. For the 12 billions at which we set European debts were established at that figure only after the most generous slicing of principal and the erasure of billions of interest.

We must not become the loss of this great treasure earned by the people of America. We must not go through this ceremonial to keep alive the slightest resentment against a European nation.

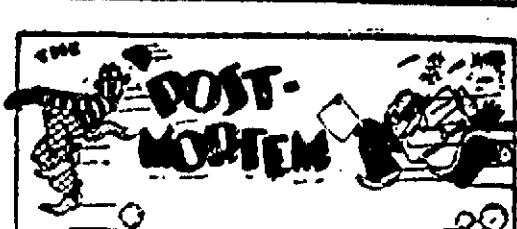

The wrongs against us, like the debts owed us, may be forgiven but the lesson should never be forgotten.

The need for such a ceremonial was made all the more manifest by the easy-going equivocal conduct of our own cabinet members during the recent effort of France for another loan.

Will Rogers used to say that America never lost a war and never won a conference.

Only through the Rite of the Debts may we hope to amend the Rogers' quip.

We and Mr. Joseph Hughes have just celebrated their seventieth wedding anniversary near Newburg, Maryland, and Hughes, who is 70, is still climbing in the church choir.

IN the stress of getting excited over C.I.O. terrorism, your correspondent has neglected a few important dates . . . one was flag day on Monday and I completely forgot that it will probably be just a matter of time until we replace the forty-eight stars with the new coat of arms of the United States . . . I don't know like, but it probably will be a wild jackass rampant on a merry-go-round flanked on either side by pigs at dinner . . . the other day to be brought up somewhat tardily is Finland day, the day when the Finns paid their semi-annual installment on their debt to the United States . . . that was yesterday . . .

DAGUERREOTYPES

The refrain from an old song
Comes back across the years . . .
It crept along
Between the lines
Of the book one reads in tears.
"Gone With the Wind" . . .
Here's a laurel simply placed,
To the author who could write
Those tragedies, superbly traced!

I hear my mother repeat the song:
"My brave laddie sleeps
In his faded coat of blue.
In his lonely grave unknown,
Lies a heart that beats so true."
"Gone With the Wind"
Brings it home to you.

MAYBE I HAVE SOMETHING HERE

The evil thought occurred to me the other day that Mr. But might find it considerably easier to settle the steel strike troubles later on than to herd them while they're so hot. After all, the boys on each side are tiring out to quite some extent, and they'll be less troublesome to bring to terms if the Roosevelt luck holds out, and the president can pick the right moment to step in, all will be lovely again in Washington and Mr. Farley can breathe easy once more.

How he ran mediate any trouble is, of course, not precisely clear. After all, the steel companies are not violating even the one-sided Wagner act in refusing to sign contracts. At the same time, C. I. O. organizing has been done on the basis that C. I. O. contributed a half million (since when has there been big money in Washington) to the Roosevelt campaign fund, and that the president is solidly behind C. I. O.

If eventual mediation under Roosevelt guidance fails to give every break to C. I. O., he will be in the position of having turned traitor on the boys.

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

NOW JIMMY IS AWAY

Into his quiet little room,
Inquiring sublimely stray,
As if they'd like to aid the gloom,
Now Jimmy is away.

There are no clothes flung hastily
Upon his closet floor;
There is no extra work for me;
Disorder reigns no more.

Dad has the paper all intact;
His ties are always there;
And drawers once hurriedly ransacked
Are orderly and fair.

But how we miss his happy grin
That brightened every day;
How gloomily the days begin,
Now Jimmy is away!

How long the hours! How dark the night!
He only can restore
Our lives to former dear delights,
When he comes home once more!

HOW LIBERAL IS SO CALLED LIBERALISM?

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

IMMUNITY VERSUS RESISTANCE

I can't for the life of me see, writes a man who has had tuberculosis for ten years, why you are so rabid against the word "resistance."

The correspondent then quotes from a textbook of pathology for nurses and from another textbook of anatomy and physiology, to show that medical authors confuse "immunity" with "resistance" or use the terms loosely and interchangeably. Further he cites the definition of the word "immunity" given in Webster—freedom or exemption from any charge, duty, obligation, etc. This would suggest, the correspondent maintains, merely a passive state; whereas resistance conveys the idea of active opposition. Moreover, in all his experience with physicians in tuberculosis hospitals and in private practice, no one has ever seemed to make any such do-do over the precise use of the words as I do. Correspondent enjoys this column and profits by it, but wishes he could see the light, if there is any that will clearly distinguish resistance from immunity.

Now, listen. It matters little which term you apply, only so you know what you mean. Many casual or thoughtless readers have accused me of similar finicking in my effort to make people cry-conscious and persuade them to live by the golden rule of hygiene. The authorities cited by the correspondent and plenty of greater authorities, have termed up the significance of the terms immunity and resistance so much that it is difficult to clarify the matter now. I have walked many times around my desk and rolled several somersaults pondering how to go about it. Ah, let's see what Stedman's Medical Dictionary has to say about it. Immunity (Immunitas). A state, natural or acquired, in which the body is resistant to disease. This definition will please the tuberculous correspondent. But now let us turn to Resistance. A passive force exerted in opposition to another and active force. Nothing about active opposition to disease here. Not that we need take the dictionary too seriously. Etymologists are not infallible.

My objection to the use of the term "resistance" if you mean immunity or if you don't know what you mean or what you are talking about is merely that it is so misleading and confusing and hinders the spread of knowledge. I have the same objection to the use of the term "cold" or "the common cold" if you mean bronchitis, measles, influenza, infantile paralysis, pneumonia or what not or if you don't know what you mean or what you are talking about.

Nobody can say in any instance—neither a person has any "resistance" against a particular disease or against various or all diseases. But a physician can determine in any instance whether a person has any immunity against diphtheria. Six weeks hence I shall have a reasonable degree of immunity against typhoid and paratyphoid fever, because I have received a first of three doses of the "cassine" or bacterin. No one would speak of anti-typhoid inoculation as "increasing resistance"; it is specifically administered to stimulate development of immunity.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Potts Disease
What is Pott's disease? Is it curable? (J. F.)
Answer—Tuberculosis of spine.

If taken in time it is curable by (1) absolute physiological rest—application of cast, splint or brace to spine, (2) sunbathing and open air treatment in hospital or sanatorium much like the standard treatment of pulmonary tuberculosis, (3) in some advanced or neglected cases surgical treatment. Spinal tuberculosis is common cause of hunch-back.

Vitamin D for Sinus Trouble
Recently you recommended the use of vitamin D in the nose for chronic sinus trouble and recurring attacks of rhinitis or hayfever-like symptoms? (Mrs. P. J.)
Answer—Yes, two or three drops of a gland oily solution of vitamin D in each nostril two or three times a day gives a good deal of relief in many such cases.

Goiter and Fear
Does fear cause goitre or goitre fear? (D.)
Answer—I should say fear may cause goitre, and exophthalmic goitre may give patient expression of fear.

Your Birthday

"GEMINI"

If June 17 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9 to 11 a. m. from 2 to 4 p. m. and from 8 to 10 p. m. The danger periods are from 7 to 9 a. m. from 6 to 8 p. m. and from 10 p. m. until midnight.

Force yourself to act in a good-humored fashion this day if you would avoid a great deal of unpleasantness. Grouchiness and disposition will attract trouble. Right will prevail, revealing any erroneous attempts to create injuriously wrong impressions or the attachment of blame where it does not belong. Money-making proclivities are likely to abound and bear favorable results. This should be a most auspicious day for those who depend on their own creative work as a means of livelihood, particularly for those engaged in artistic and literary work. A warm reception is almost sure to be accorded those who make of social calls this day, and hosts will be gratified by the appreciation accorded their hospitality. Married and engaged couples, as well as suitors, must refrain from complaining on this day, for any form of grumblng will be very irritating.

If a woman and June 17 is your birthday, you are probably a book-lover and very artistic. Anything relating to the past is apt to interest you to an unusual degree. You have, most likely, an exceptionally agreeable disposition, and fond of social activities and know how to make yourself delightfully entertaining. While you may not ever have a great amount of wealth, it would seem your financial situation will become very satisfactory, providing an income exceeding your needs. You should take interest in some form of church or social welfare work, for you have much that you can give to both. You perhaps are qualified to teach, paint, play some musical instrument, write or engage in some time of selling. Your married life should be a very happy

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington—The French are a polite people but when Ambassador Bonnet says in effect that before war debt negotiations can be undertaken the United States must establish its integrity, he is using very raw words.

The United States has babied France along on this war debt business almost from the beginning. When the debts were refunded in 1925, France's rate of interest was cut sharply below what the treasury was then paying on the money it had raised by liberty loans to pass on to France.

That's real integrity. It is almost charity. Moreover, France got off with a debt settlement far easier than was arranged for Great Britain.

Easy Terms

Now how about France's integrity? That nation buckled under on the debt payments six years ago. There were explanations at the time as to why France could not keep on paying, and there have been explanations every six months since when the semi-annual payments came due.

Nevertheless, Mr. Bonnet, only a few months established here as ambassador, stated in an interview in New Orleans that he was ready to undertake negotiations for settlement of the debt. But first, he said, "each country must be convinced of the basic integrity of the other." France, it would seem, is not convinced of the "basic integrity" of the United States.

At the time of the 1925 debt refunding, France owed the United States $3,404,000,000 principal and $885,000,000 interest. The debt bore about five per cent interest after the war, the rate set to match that paid on the last American liberty loan.

Then France was given 62 years in which to pay. At five per cent the debt would have amounted to more than nine billion dollars. Instead of charging such a rate the United States agreed to no interest at all for five years—until 1930. Then would come 10 years at one per cent, 10 years at 2 per cent, 8 years at 2 1/2 per cent, 7 years at 3 per cent, and 22 years at 3 1/2 per cent. The total bill would be $6,647,674,104.

Cocky Attitude

England, owing $4,600,000,000—a half billion more than France—was asked to pay three per cent from the beginning and 3 1/2 per cent after 1932. The total bill then would be $11,050,000,000—about 60 per cent more than France's.

Nobody doubts that France has been hard pressed with expense and trouble, and her neighbors are not the most orderly. But in spite of these good grounds for expecting sympathy, it sounds amply cocky for France to walk up to her banker and ask about its integrity before she agrees to pay anything on long overdue notes.

Under The Capitol Dome

By John Wyngaard
Post-Crescent Staff Correspondent

Madison—For volume of debate, for bickering and name calling and generally strained feelings, last week's sessions of the Wisconsin state senate were the outstanding ones of the present term of the legislature.

For the senators last week considered, and fought over, two subjects which lend themselves magnificently to extended talk, the Wisconsin Development authority bill, which would put the state into the utility business, and civil service in the beverage tax division of the state treasury, a bill which has been popping in and out of sight since January.

Progressives who had hoped that the WDA bill would be law by this time, were irked when Senators Phil Nelson, Maple Republican and Arthur Zimny, Milwaukee Democrat, balked at the last minute and voted with the opposition to lay the bill over to Wednesday of this week. The laying over action was a distinct setback, in the opinion of many, and one Progressive even suggested that Zimny and Nelson have turned against the administration on the measure, "which is now cold as a mackerel."

Nelson was said to be annoyed at the fate of one of his favorite bills in the Progressive assembly, while Zimny was fretful, according to reports at the Progressives' insistence on withdrawing the civil service bill from his committee for immediate action. Zimny's brother is now employed in the beverage tax division, one of Treasurer Letwin's recent appointees.

Friday the senators resumed their horseplay on a bill designating the Merrill Herald as the official state paper, in which official announcements and departmental regulations of the state government are required to be published.

Senators deflected the measure with amendments to change the paper to one in their home districts, ranging from Chippewa Falls to Wisconsin Rapids, and Marshfield. Senator James Callan nominated the Fennimore Times, in deference to its publisher, Senator E. J. Roethlisberger declined the honor however, reminding the senate that acceptance would mean that he would be forced to sacrifice his senate seat of his job with his firm.

Not to be outdone by his playful mates Senator Joseph McDermid, a Ladysmith veterinarian, suggested the name of a small town sheet in his district, "a paper which is published about once a week and almost always in English."

Replies from all over the country regarding Assemblyman Frank N. Graess of Sturgeon Bay for his resolution inviting the Duke and Duchess of Windsor to spend a vacation in Wisconsin. Papers from coast to coast featured the story of the legislature's approval of his resolution. Graess has been informed, with the result, he avails that "Wisconsin is getting a million dollars worth of publicity."

Graess is now awaiting a reply from the Duke and his wife, to whom certified copies of the resolution have been sent. Since the Duke is reported to reply personally to all congratulatory communications the Door county assemblyman believes he will not have long to wait.

A conspicuously bald druggist was denouncing the Biennial consumers' bureau bill and listing its weaknesses and inadequacies before an assembly committee the other day.

As the speaker finished, after an hour of fervent denunciation, a mild-mannered young man in the large audience asked Chairman Edward Kiefer for permission to ask a question.

"Mr. T," he asked, "does your firm handle hair tonic?"

Senator John E. Cashman of Donauk has found an ally in his campaign against the department of agriculture and markets in Assemblyman William Rohan of Kaukauna.

Rohan has been extremely critical of the work of the department in recent months, and frequently voices his opinions in the lower house, while Cashman loses no opportunity in the senate to lash the commissioners of the department and the bureau in general.

It is said that Rohan and Assemblyman Mark Collins Jr. of Appleton, will work together in an attempt to defeat the milk price control bill, recently passed by the senate, when it reaches their chamber. Rohan has promised a battle when the bill comes before the assembly.

A frequent visitor in legislative chambers is A. D. Bolens, "everybody calls him A. D.," editor of a political gossip paper published at irregular intervals.

Eighty years of age, he is a brother of Senator Harry W. Bolens of Port Washington, and finds his principal delight in heckling the "Milwaukee radicals" and the Progressives.

Bolens is also convinced that the newspaper correspondents at the capitol are tools of Progressive office holders, accepting "handouts" without question. And the weekly editors, jokes he, "seem to have the same sleepy noodles as the daily paper men."

Senator Michael F. Kresky of Green Bay is thinking of withdrawing his bill providing for city housing authorities.

An identical bill by Assemblyman Ben Rubin of Milwaukee was advanced toward passage the other day, and if the measure is finally approved, it is likely that Kresky will ask to have his own bill withdrawn. It already has been recommended for killing by a senate committee.

Home electric users in northeastern and central Wisconsin will save $88,000 a year on their bills under a rate revision planned for the Wisconsin Public Service corporation and its subsidiary, the Menominee and Marinette Light Traction company, the public service commission has announced.

About 35,000 customers are affected by the rate revision, among them some in Burlington, Chilton, Green Bay, Oconto, Oshkosh, Peshigo, Waupaca. Reductions proposed in those communities are: Burlington $750, Chilton, $1,350, De Pere, $2,700, Green Bay, $23,000, Oconto, $2,350, Oshkosh, $20,000, Peshigo, $900, Waupaca, $950. The reduction proposed is approximately 5 percent the commission said.

P. X. Ritter, formerly of Hortonville, added the administration of the beverage tax division of the state treasury to his regular duties as state purchasing director for the first five months of this year without additional compensation, it was revealed here recently.

Ritter was chosen head of the division in January, supposedly on the order of Governor LaFollette, and was offered extra compensation, but he declined, according to reports.

His salary as purchasing director for the state is $5,000 a year.

Assemblyman Leo T. Niemuth of the second Winnebago county district said Saturday that he plans to take over some of the bills which Assemblyman Nels Laison was working on before his recent illness and death.

Niemuth also renewed his invitation to the citizens of Neenah and Menasha to bring their problems to him in the absence of an assembly representative of their own.

Facetious compliments were tendered during the week's bitter senate debates to Senator Roland E. Kannerberg of Wausau. Kannerberg, who as one senator put it, had "been getting into senators' hair" for several days, at one point was called "a bore" by Senator Frank Panzer of Oakfield. Gem of Kenneth White of River Falls, who soberly declared that the Wausau solon combined the generosity of Julius Caesar, William the Conqueror and Napoleon Bonaparte rolled into one; the oratorical gifts of Demosthenes, Stephen A. Douglas and William Jennings Bryan.

and the statesmanship of Disraeli, Bismarck and Theodore Roosevelt.

Other senators, however, expressed disgust with the procrastination of the senate. At one point Senator Herman J. Severson of Waupaca county, senior member in point of service, declared angrily that "the condition of the calendar is a disgrace. It is the worst calendar in the United States. We're just not getting anywhere and it's costing the taxpayers $1,000 a day to run this show."

Governor LaFollette the other day received his first contribution for the 1938 campaign, which campaign is unknown. It was a one-dollar bill mailed by a Madison admirer, who hoped that "next year you will be a candidate for either governor or United States senator."

The old prerequisites for success, individual initiative, self-confidence based on proper preparation, consciousness of duty, loyalty to ideals, honesty and devotion to God and country still hold good, Justice Joseph Martin, Green Bay member of the supreme court, told members of the graduating class of Madison College last week.

A farm association in South Dakota distributed 7,000 posters in rural areas, urging farmers to "play safe; plant feed crops."

lies each had five infested fields, Ozaukee three, Door two, and Kewaunee one.

The first step in exterminating the corn borer from these fields was taken last fall when farmers residing on those lands plowed under all stubble to prevent its being used as over-wintering quarters for corn borer larvae.

If the larvae are permitted to pass the winter in the stubble they develop when spring arrives, first into an inactive pupal stage and then into adult moths ready to deposit their eggs on growing corn late in June and throughout July, Chambers pointed out.

After the final spring drizzling, it is the practice of the farmers to pick up all stubble or stalks left on the infested fields and burn them.

The cleanups were supervised this spring by A. L. Piller, deputy nursery inspector of the department.

The cleanup of borer infestations was conducted on a total of 682 acres in Ozaukee, Sheboygan, Manitowish, Kewaunee, and Door counties, Chambers said, with the number of infestations being considerably less than last year when it was necessary to carry on the cleanup campaign in 152 fields in 12 counties.

State Completes Work to Prevent Damage by Borers

This Year's Campaign Confined to 16 Farms in Five Counties

This year's campaign to prevent the corn borer from doing commercial damage in Wisconsin was confined to 16 farms in five counties and was completed last week, E. L. Chambers, state entomologist, stated in a report received today by R. C. Swanson, county agricultural agent.

The cleanup of borer infestations was conducted on a total of 682 acres in Ozaukee, Sheboygan, Manitowish, Kewaunee, and Door counties, Chambers said, with the number of infestations being considerably less than last year when it was necessary to carry on the cleanup campaign in 152 fields in 12 counties.

Make Charges Of Inefficiency In Relief Group

Commissioner Refutes Charges of Two New London Aldermen

New London—Charges of inefficiency in the relief department were made before the city council last night by two of the aldermen and action on the charges will be taken at an adjourned meeting of the council Tuesday evening, June 22, the aldermen decided. After hearing complaints from two of the aldermen, the council asked for applications for the position of relief commissioner.

Incompetency in the relief department was brought to the attention of the council by Alderman Little, who said that while city officials strive to keep down municipal expenses, some means of saving are overlooked. The city relief department, he said, is just a Santa Claus and should be under the management of an efficient head. New London relief expenditures averaged about $2,000 per month.

Harold Pieper, chairman of the council's relief committee, corroborated Little's statements and said that case work and other orders laid down by his committee had never been carried out. Both aldermen agreed that, while W. E. Lipke, present relief commissioner, has done his best he is not the man to head the New London relief department.

Lipke told the council in a brief talk that though the committee had issued orders to his department frequently, the council had never approved such action and that the council's authority was necessary before he could enter private homes on case work without sufficient cause.

He said that every able-bodied man receiving aid was paying the city through employment on various municipal projects. Lipke also indicated he would appear before the council at its adjourned meeting next Tuesday to refute the aldermen's charges.

Consider Licenses

The meeting was adjourned until next week especially to consider a large number of applications for the renewal of liquor retailers' licenses. Many had not been filed with the city clerk the required 15 days and councilmen expressed a desire to study the information in the applications more thoroughly.

Much discussion ensued on several petitions for sewer and water facilities on south side streets. A request for installations in one block on S. Pearl street from Jennings to Cameron was signed by Philipp Richter and Mrs. Lydia Shoemaker; one block on E. Washington street between Mill and Ervin was signed by John Spencer and Ervin Wiech; and a circuit of six blocks starting on S. Pearl street at Jennings, south to Cameron street, east to Lawrence, north to Jennings and west again to Pearl. The latter was signed by John Ezzerit, Philipp Richter, Andy Brown, Mrs. Lydia Shoemaker and Mrs. Alma Kreklow.

Act On Petition

The only petition received favorably was that for installation on Washington street. The board of public works is to proceed with a hearing of all residents involved and not the work started. Other petitioners appeared before the council stating that wells on Jennings Heights have gone dry and residents are carrying water as far as three blocks.

Mayor Wendlandt explained the city's limited finances and the policy of strict adherence to the budget, made granting of the petitions impossible. Provision was made in the 1937 budget for the Washington street work but other petitioners were promised that their requests would be included in the 1938 budget so the work could be done early next spring.

Point To East

Alderman Springmire argued strongly in behalf of the petitioners for water installations only but an overwhelming opposition among the council pointed out the excessive costs for separate jobs and the economy of laying both water and sewer at one time. The cost of water works was estimated at $2,520 for six blocks, $420 for one block.

A. R. Margraff, chairman of the finance committee, reported the city had a total of $56,000 available to care for expenditures for the rest of the year 1937. He said $1,500 had been placed in the budget for the park project for this year and $4,500 has been spent to date, he said.

A meeting was held recently with town chairmen in this vicinity on the matter of outside men working on the city park project. Royaltan agreed to pay New London $7 a man per month for the privilege of keeping three men at the park. The amount is the difference between $10 and $3, the reduction made recently in the sum allowed by the government toward materials.

Withdraw Men

The towns of Bear Creek and Lebanon each recalled their one man at the park and Mukwa withdrew three from that township. The town of Little Wolf has three men at the park but was not represented at the meeting.

Mayor Wendlandt reminded that after July 1 sponsors of projects will be required to pay 40 per cent of the cost of continuing the project, unless special exemption was received through a petition based on the financial condition of the city.

A request for a refund of $360 each by Wallace Ransom and Louis Gerndt for filling their own block on Hancock street was filed without action. The opinion of City Attorney Putnam was sought and he ruled that the claims previously had been disallowed by the old council and therefore could not be considered by the new council. Some refunds had been made under special circumstances.

Offers Compromise

Julian Breakstone in a communication to the council offered to pay part of delinquent taxes due the city on his store property on condition that the city dismiss attachment proceedings. Attorney Putnam advised that the city continue with the proceedings. The council agreed.

The mayor's appointment of Ike Poeppke, William Stofer and Charles Horn to the 1937 board of review was turned down by the council 6 to 4. A new board will be sub-

Study Government, Club Members Told by Speaker

New London — "Know your government and see that you get what legislation you want from your representatives in the governmental bodies," about 40 members of the New London Lions and Rotary clubs were told at a joint meeting at the Elwood hotel last evening by Paul N. Reynolds, Madison, executive director of the Wisconsin Taxpayers Alliance. Too few taxpayers understand the problems and the workings of their government, he said, in a talk on municipal county and state finances.

He declared it was the duty of the citizen and particularly the important business men of a community, to inform themselves on governmental policies and the ways to secure fulfillment of their just demands. He cited examples of laxity on the part of citizens in securing the utmost from their government and presented detailed figures on the tremendous cost of administration, the numerous tax sources and other means of raising money, and how it is expended.

Vital information is available currently from the Wisconsin Taxpayers Alliance, he said, a non-political organization which is privately supported in the work of governmental research and dissemination of the information gained.

The joint meeting replaced the regular noon luncheon meetings of the two clubs this week. The guest speaker was heard following a 6:30 dinner at the hotel last evening.

Find Most Beloit College Students Retain Sincere Religious Feeling

Beloit (P)—The majority of college students have a sincere religious feeling, although many of them have not crystallized their ideas on the subject of theology.

That is one of the conclusions reached by Joyce Hartman, Janesville, Wis., and Herbert Krauss, Chicago, seniors at Beloit college, Beloit, Wis., in a survey of religious attitudes at the college which they completed with the aid of returns from 412 students.

The pass of sociology students also deduced from the completed survey that under classroom more orthodox than upper classmen, women are more orthodox than men, and that students' criticisms are directed at the church rather than at religion.

In the latter classification, criticisms voiced against the church included the following: "The church is too far behind the times," "stresses hellfire and damnation too much," "lacks the courage to attack the real social and economic problems of the day," "ought to discuss the problems of everyday life more than church doctrine."

Miss Hartman and Krauss learned that 150 of the 412 students regard hell as "the greatest unhappiness on earth," while 37 had no definition for the subject.

Prayer was described by the students variously as "an outlet for pent-up emotions," "a seeking of sympathy from an unknown being," and "an attempt to get something for nothing."

In answer to the question, "do you believe man and ape are descended from some common ancestor?" 299 of the 412 students answered "yes," 57 "no" and 56 failed to reply.

American Cities Have Bonded Debt Of Over 8 Billion

Springfield, Ill., Lowest Among Larger Cities With $8.77 Per Capita

New York (P)—A national tabulation on city debt listed Milwaukee today among cities with a lower than average bonded indebtedness per capita.

The tabulation, compiled for the National Municipal League by Miss Rosina Mohaupt, of the Detroit Bureau of Governmental Research, placed the gross bonded debt for cities over 30,000 population at $8,239,000,000 or $175.65 per capita.

At the lower end of their population classifications were Milwaukee, with $76.51; Seattle, with $8.77 per capita, was at the foot of the list.

Miss Mohaupt found that Atlantic City, with a per capita net debt of $77.95, had the heaviest list of obligations. Springfield, Ill., with $8.77 per capita, was at the foot of the list.

Statistics from 241 cities showed 152 had reduced gross debt compared with 83 which had increased obligations. Net bonded debt, defined as all debt minus sinking funds and self-supporting utilities, declined $12.7 per capita in the last year. Gross bonded debt increased by $14,500,000.

Milwaukee's bonded debt per capita is really $46, Wendt said. "The difference between this figure and that of the tabulation made for the National Municipal League represents the city's share of the county bonded debt, which the compiler evidently assessed against Milwaukee."

"The city's bonded indebtedness, which reached a maximum of $51,000,000 in 1931, is now $28,000,000."

It Is Said--

THAT a gasoline truck running out of gas is a story in itself but "you ain't heard nothing yet." Carrying a full load of gasoline for a Neenah station yesterday afternoon, a driver ran out of gas and phoned his wife for additional fuel.

The spouse started out laden with the needed gas and soon chugged to a stop. Investigation revealed an empty gas tank and she was forced to use the gasoline intended for her husband's truck. The load of gasoline was not delivered until late last evening. It was measured out at a bulk station and the driver was not permitted to drain any from the tank.

Reject Bill to Change Wage Law

Lieutenant Governor Casts Deciding Vote to Defeat Measure

Madison (P)—Senate Progressive, with Lieutenant Governor Henry Gunderson casting the deciding vote, defeated last yesterday, 10 to 15, the Clancy bill to extend the state minimum wage law to include men.

The present statute gives the industrial commission power to fix a minimum wage for women where three or more are employed. The bill would have changed the word "females" in the law to "adults."

Before killing the measure, the senate amended it to exempt farmers. The bill was opposed by the state federation of labor.

Senator Frank Panzer (P), Oakfield, called the proposal "one of those nuisance bills that sounds nice" and said it was "an idle gesture designed to put someone on the spot, unworkable and intended to be a good plank in somebody's political campaign."

Senator Michael Kresky (P), Green Bay, said if a minimum wage was established for men, employers would tend to lower wages toward the minimum.

When Kresky said the bill would "saddle on industry the burden of providing the industrial commission with information that is absolutely irrelevant and immaterial," Senator Harry Bolens (D), Port Washington, exclaimed, "What a cheap excuse."

Senator Joseph Clancy (D), Racine, the author, said a "great disparity" exists in wages in various parts of the state.

Sees Need For Funds to Develop Proposed Park

Calumet County Offers Property to State for New Park

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison—The grant to the state of a Calumet county park site on the east shore of Lake Winnebago should be accompanied by an appropriation by the legislature for the development of that site, C. L. Harrington, state superintendent of forests and parks said here yesterday.

The Calumet county board recently voted to turn over to the state a site of 175 acres in the town of Stockbridge, partly covered with timber and with a lake frontage of nearly a mile on condition that the state expend $3,000 in the development of the tract in the next three years, build a road into the property, reserve a small plot in it where a veterans' monument may be erected and name the park Calumet county Memorial State park.

An Ideal Site

Harrington agreed that the Stockbridge site will provide an ideal park, the only remaining possible location anywhere on the shores of Lake Winnebago, but warned that the conservation department's funds are adequate only for the maintenance and development of those parks now owned by the state.

"We would like to have the county develop the site, for we have no money. If the legislature accepts the grant it will have to appropriate funds for development," Harrington explained.

Roosevelt Plans Conferences With Party Chieftains

Thus far there has been no indication that the legislature will accept the land on the terms specified by Calumet county. Early in the session Assemblyman Henry Hupfaut of Darbo, representing that county, said that he planned to introduce a bill for the acceptance of the site, but he has not yet done so.

Two years ago a bill was before the legislature which would have authorized the state to buy the land since bought by the county and to develop it as a state park. This bill was defeated, and the Calumet county board recently decided to purchase.

Mr. Roosevelt also commented that the sugar lobbyists would leave the capital the administration sugar tax bill could be passed. He described the lobby as the most pernicious in Washington.

He discussed the problem in response to a question about relief funds, which the senate was debating today. The senate approved an amendment limiting administrative costs to 5 per cent, but rejected a proposal to return to the treasury all money remaining unspent from previous relief appropriations.

Mr. Roosevelt also commented that the capital the administration sugar tax bill could be passed. He described the lobby as the most pernicious in Washington.

The house voted late yesterday to appropriate $194,328,000 for flood control, rivers and harbors improvements and other public works in charge of the war department. The bill goes to the senate.

House leaders decided to adjourn today's session because of the unexpected death of Chairman William P. Connor, Jr. (D-Ill.), of the labor committee. Conner, former vaudeville entertainer, was co-author of the pending wage and hour bill.

MURDER ON THE BLUFF

SYNOPSIS: Attractive Jude Blinsop is mysteriously shot to death on a wild, stormy night at Farrington Bluff, home of Michael's aunts. Everyone mooned on this island is suspected. Mike, who talked with Jude alone that night, is suspected. Aunt Martha, stout and prudish; Gay Palmer, Mike's red-headed sweetheart; Higgins, the elderly butler; William, the chauffeur; Cook, Annie, the maid—even I who lead the group investigation. While searching the house, William and I are both knocked out by some unseen assailant.

Chapter 20
"DON'T WATCH THE STAIRS!"
THE narrow corridor was in complete darkness. We made our way along it slowly with the aid of Mike's flashlight. In the main hall full lights still blazed. The silence was oppressive. As rapidly as my stiff legs and aching head would allow, we crossed to Gay's door, where Mike knocked sharply.
"Michael!" came the Skipper's voice from within.
"O.K. Skipper!" And the door was opened.
Inside, the room was blue with cigarette smoke. M. Farrington was still in the big chair, one pudgy hand hanging on to Higgins' ear, the other on the bed with Annie on one side of him and Cook on the other. The man looked as if he had just had a good sleep.
"Mike's all right," said Michael quickly. "Just a little shaken up. How are you, William?"
"Not so good up," the chauffeur was slurring. "The coffee was a nasty thing to be on the head from behind."
Gay shoved a chair at me and stepped into a hardy wave of what I was doing.
"William," I said, "apart from the idea—knocking me out and tying me to your bed."
Someone screamed. M. Farrington I think—and William sprang to his feet, making sure first "You dirty dog, he said, and started for me."
Mike interrupted me. William he looked. "Are you crazy? His left arm shot out and this man sprang across the room. We found Mr. Wells in your room, but now gagged and tied to the bed."
"What?" In spite of myself, I pitted him. "Gagged and tied?" His eyes were those of a suffering dog. "Then—who—hit—me?"
"I didn't!" I said. "What happened to you? Can't you see that time is important? What happened?"
He turned to me like a man walking in his sleep. "I was in a room like you told me," his voice was dazed, "and you hit me when I went through the door. Only—you didn't hit!" Suddenly his voice rose in a bellow. "I'm getting out of here! I'll swim out. We're going to be murdered—murdered in the dark! Let me go!" Mike and I were hanging on to his arms. "Let me go! I can't do no more! I—" All the strength Mike had left went into that punch. William crumpled to the floor.
"Be quiet!" Cook was shaking Annie furiously. "Start any fuss now and I'll warn you proper!"
Over William's body, I started at Michael's grim face. "It wasn't William, I guess," I said through dry lips.
"No. And the rest of us were all here."
The Skipper was kneeling beside William, and Gay was bringing water from the bathroom.
There is Someone Else
"Then," said Michael at last, "there is someone else in the house—someone none of us know about."
There seemed to be no other explanation. Which meant that no one in that room was a murderer. None of us had crept stealthily into the storm after a friend, and I could have wept with relief.
William moaned and opened his eyes.
"Retire!" asked the Skipper. "You were a bit excited and they feared you."
"Here," Mike was coming good sense. "Let me help you. Stretch out on the bed a while. You'll be all right."
We helped him to the bed, Annie and I from Cook and Higgins, and to his assistance, M. Farrington brought us back to the problem at hand.
"You really think there is someone else in the house?"
"Not a doubt in the world, Aunt Martha," said Michael. "And that makes everything all right."
"Does it?" the Farringtons evergreen went up. "Now I should say you're much mistaken. You don't seem to intend to let here be an unknown criminal who has murdered one of your guests!"
M. Farrington had a knack for putting things unpleasantly. I had been considering doing just that, and so I could see from his face, said Michael. Compared to the sensation of suspecting your best friend of an unspeakable crime, the feeling of merely being pursued by a thing was a pleasurable one, Michael reddened.
"It's this way, Aunt Martha," I ventured. "We can't do much in the dark, and he can't get away. And—er—well, we're a little done up. I think the most sensible thing for us to do is to make ourselves

Doom of Dairy Industry in This Region Is Seen

Points to Similar Disappearance of Wheat Business in Area

Neenah—The doom of the dairy industry in the vicinity of Neenah was predicted by A. S. MacArthur, member of the Neenah Advancement committee, during a talk on the "Social Audit of Neenah" at a meeting of the Neenah Lions club in the Valley Inn yesterday.

Mr. MacArthur cited the flourishing wheat industry in Neenah 50 years ago and reviewed the disappearance of seven large grain mills. He forecast a similar disappearance of the dairy industry because of increasing land values, higher feed prices and higher wages.

The wheat industry vanished where the dairy was being raised and wheat could be raised cheaper further west, Mr. MacArthur said. Milk will be produced cheaper in the south and will be shipped here, he claimed. Acreage adjacent to Lake Winnebago is no longer listed as farm land by the United States Department of Agriculture, he revealed.

The speaker summarized preliminary results of the youth and agriculture surveys in relation to Neenah industry and said complete analyses would not be available until next fall. He declared one out of every four Neenah high school students came from the surrounding rural area and three out of four from the farms are unable to find employment in agriculture.

Discuss Traffic Problem at Bridge

Mayor Held Suggests Methods of Solving Traffic Situation

Menasha—Another traffic problem was brought to the attention of councilmen last night when Mayor Walter E. Held explained the conditions near the Strange Paper mill during rush hours and suggested various methods of improvements. Solving the traffic problem is part of the mayor's drive to make Menasha streets safe for pedestrians as well as motorists.

The mayor now situated on the flag station near the main intersection of the intersection south of the Tayco street bridge shifting the arterial about 10 feet south. He explained that the trouble at present is that trucks and cars are forced to come out into the street to view cross traffic because of the high arched on the bridge. If the arterial was moved, the mayor said, a better view of the bridge could be had.

Mayor Held also suggested paving the area near the main intersection to provide more room for trucks and cars to approach the street. He then suggested marked pedestrian lanes and, if necessary a safety island. Aldermen referred the matter to the street committee and the city engineer to provide and sketch of the area including street and property lines and to be presented at the next council meeting.

Hollywood News And Gossip

BY ROBBIN COONS
Hollywood—Paul Muni calls it "living the character."
Louise Rainer calls it artistic interpretation.
What Garbo calls it I wouldn't know first-hand.
But Akim Tamiroff, of all the "artistic" artists of the screen, is the first one to call it "poison."
"You cannot act," he assures you, "unless you become literally poisoned by your role. It must get into your mind, your blood, your stomach. It must make your days intolerable and your sleep a nightmare until you get it out of your system."

Tamiroff, short and on the plumpish side, is still Russian in Hollywood. He looks Latin rather than Slavic, which makes him suitable for a greater variety of roles. With make-up he can do a passing fair Chinese, too. His down-dog general was runner-up, remember, for an academy award. Lately he's been running to Italians.

It is when talking about acting that Tamiroff becomes Russian and intense. His entire career has been characterized by a sort of slavery to his work.
"I am a creature of bits," he declares.
"At the Moscow Art Theater where I began," he says, "it was bits and bits for years until, with the Russian stars, I came to America in 1923 doing roles in 'The Cherry Orchard,' 'Three Sisters' and 'Al the Bottom.'"

"Success! Ah! But then, it was bits again in the movies. Bits in 30 pictures, phoo! So I said to myself it is time something were done about this. So—"

He decided to make each bit of dialog given him as complete a work of art as possible.
"I took the lines and died about them. I made them poison me. I perspired, I had the furies and, well, pretty soon they began giving me two lines; three lines."

Hollywood really noticed Tamiroff for the first time when he let his "poison" on him. After that, he began getting more calls to bits, and to parts, and to featured roles, and finally to a contract.
"My last picture," he says, "I had so many speeches in one day that when I got home I could not utter even one word in Russian. My throat was that tired!"

Defer Action On Purchase of New Motorcycle

Aldermen Urge Action on Seventh Street Storm Sewer

Menasha — Purchase of a new motorcycle for the Menasha police force was again deferred until the cost of repairs on the machine now in use can be ascertained, at a meeting of the common council in city hall last night.

The decision was made after a bid from the National Cycle and Repair company of Oshkosh for a new Harley Davidson cycle and sidecar, completely equipped with radio was read. The company allowed, on a $669.55 bid, $333.55 for the two machines now owned by the city.

The pressing need for action on storm sewer installation on Seventh street near the new Menasha High school together with drainage conditions in the Fourth ward was stressed by Aldermen Grode, Michalkiewicz and Newcomb. Both situations are to be investigated and the cost of installation estimated so that a report may be made at a special meeting to be held this month.

Demands Action
Alderman Grode said that with the summer half gone it was time something was done about the Seventh street sewer. He said the pipe was laid out waiting for WPA labor and that the city would lose money in breakage if it stayed there much longer. He stated that it was necessary that drainage be provided for the new high school by September.

Alderman Newcomb supported him, saying that appropriations of men from the WPA were too long in coming and that Menasha was being left "behind the eight ball." He suggested that the city do the work and said that equipment could be hired at a committee employees do the work.

After the Fourth ward flood situation had been discussed by Alderman Michalkiewicz and Newcomb, councilmen voted to investigate the possibility of the city installing a storm sewer from that section, past the high school direct to the lake. The matter will be brought before a committee meeting.

Wipe Out Deficit
An $850 deficit in the fire committee budget was wiped out by the transfer of that amount from the contingent fund to the fire department fund after the resolution had been referred to the resolutions committee for approval. The deficit was caused by the purchase of $1,100 worth of fire hose for the department recently.

Several problems which were debated at length at previous council sessions were ironed out last night. One concerned the installation of a water main on Matheson street for one block from Garfield avenue. Aldermen voted to instruct the water and light commission to install the main over their objections that the line would not produce a profit.

Aldermen accepted the street committee's recommendation that Lawson street be opened to Garfield avenue at a cost not to exceed $200. At present a house is situated in the middle of the street and cars are forced to drive on private property to pass the house. Alderman Newcomb suggested that the owner be offered a fair price to move the building. An argument over the actual ownership of the house arose when the city attorney said that if the house is on city property, it should normally be judged as owned by the city. No definite decision was given.

Permit Carnival
After a report of the committee which investigated the ordinance on carnivals in Menasha, was heard, aldermen voted to allow the Menasha Neenah Trades and Labor council to bring in a carnival over Labor day weekend in the event that a $500 bond is furnished and that all stipulations in the ordinance are observed.

Electric light service extension on Ninth street west to Appleton road was applied for in a petition and was referred to the water and light commission.

A petition for sidewalks on Roosevelt street, on the south side, east to Matheson street was referred to the street committee and the city attorney who will pass in the waivers.

Alderman Grode moved that an ordinance be drawn by the city attorney that all building permits be submitted to the planning commission before being issued by the building inspector. His motion was supported by the council.

An alleged fire hazard at 223 Adams street, brought to the attention of the council by letter, was referred to the fire chief and the health officer.

Ask Lights
Alderman Ziemmer moved that the water and light commission install two ornamental lights on Edgewater drive using two poles now owned by the city. The commission had objected to the installation of new ornamental lights because of the excessive cost as compared with the overhead lights.

No action on applications for tavern licenses was taken last night. Applications will be considered at a special meeting to be called by the mayor sometime this month.

A letter from the Neenah city council requesting that planning commissions of both cities meet to discuss the possible construction of a bridge over the Fox river was referred to the planning commission.

Carl Heckrodt was appointed as a member of the board of review by Mayor Held.

Grant Vacations to Utility Employees
Menasha — Twelve-day vacations for employees of the Menasha Water and Light commission were authorized by members at a recent meeting, according to minutes read at last night's council meet. The commission also authorized advertising for bids for a new truck.

'BACK TO WORK'

Ray L. Thomas (above), former prosecutor at Youngstown, O., has been retained by anti-trust lawyers to press their demands for the opportunity to return to work in steel mills in the Youngstown area where 200,000 are idle. Thomas said he would ask authorities to clear paths through picket lines and seek a court injunction, if necessary.

South Side High School Favored By Oshkosh Club

Petition Council For Im- mediate Construction of New Building

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau
Oshkosh — Following talks by James Hart and E. R. Siewert, school board members, the Ohio Street and vicinity Merchants' club went on record Tuesday night favoring the immediate erection of a new high school to cost about $550,000 and a recreation-gymnasium building to cost about $250,000, on the south side of Oshkosh.

Officers and members of the South Side Business men's club, who previously have gone on record favoring this project, to be financed with a 45 per cent federal grant plus a 55 per cent local fund, attended the Ohio street meeting. Both clubs are composed of south side business men.

Provision was made to bring the matter before the North Side Business club Thursday night, and directors from that organization present stated they were confident it would be favored.

The resolution points out that the south side of Oshkosh is now without a high school and that PWA has been extended for two years and that both mentioned projects are now on the eligible list of the federal government. The city council was petitioned to make provision to raise the local share, estimated at about $550,000.

Honey Auler, member of a local architectural firm, stated that sketches and plans already have been prepared. He stated it was entirely up to the city council to carry the project to completion.

It was pointed out Oshkosh has still about $1,500,000 leeway on its bonded indebtedness, and that many localities in need of schools and public buildings in worse financial shape than Oshkosh have carried on a building project this year.

Have Two High Schools
It was pointed out by Commissioner Hart that some neighboring cities, like Green Bay, have two high schools.

Upon suggestion of James Skole, former Oshkosh council member, who also served on the school board, it was tentatively planned to have the entire membership of the third Oshkosh business men's clubs appear in person at the regular meeting of the Oshkosh council Monday night.

Combined membership of the three clubs is more than 300. Mayor C. A. Wiechering and the 32 aldermen have several times opposed any move to build a high school on the south side.

School board members present stated that a petition is still on file in favor of the project which carried more than 2,500 signatures.

Treasury Balance Is Set at $252,521

Menasha — The city treasurer's report of city funds up to May 31 shows a balance of $252,521.93, according to the monthly report of Carl Heckrodt, city treasurer.

Included in the list of balances are: general balances, $27,653.97; firemen's pension fund, $1,820.14; cemetery fund, $3,424.93; bond and coupon, $5,676.25; police pension fund, $1,029.25; water and light depreciation fund, $3,440.50; and Menasha High school building fund, $202,766.63.

Special assessment totals include: pavements, $4,310.35; sewers, $9,305.20; and sidewalks, $2,719.22, making a total of $15,334.83.

Place Tickets for Picnic on Sale Today

Menasha—Tickets for the city employees' picnic to be held at the Menasha bathing beach on June 25 were put on sale today, according to Walter J. Dougherty, city clerk.

The picnic will include all employees of the various city departments and because of its success last year will probably be an annual event. William Reimer, superintendent of the water and light plant, is general chairman this year.

Indianapolis Negro Nine Will Show at Kaukauna Tomorrow

Howard Radder Signed by Kaws As an Outfielder

Contest to be Staged Under Lights: Invaders at Bay Tonight

KAUKAUNA—The Kaukauna Electric City Brewers will play the first of several night exhibition games here at 8:15 Thursday evening when they clash with the Indianapolis A's, third place team in the National Negro League. The colored team is playing at Green Bay this evening and is rated one of the best traveling attractions in baseball.

Manager Howard Bowers of the Kaws announced this morning that he had signed Howard Radder to play with the Brewers. Radder is a University of Wisconsin baseball player who was one of the Badgers' leading clubbers this spring. He probably will get an outfield assignment and if he hits as well as at Wisconsin should bat in one of the important notches.

Other members of the Kaukauna club will be regular performers of the last couple weeks. Sonny Carvenough will perform on the mound with Peck doing the catching. Baldy Eggert will be at first. Von Drasek at second, Powell at short and Zelinski at third.

The outfield is something of a guess with Radder joining the squad and with Kappell doing some pretty fair hitting.

First Time Here

This is the first time that the A's have ever appeared in Kaukauna. The Indianapolis aggregation is another one of the guaranteed attractions like the Kansas City Monarchs, House of David, Zulu Cannibals, Cuban Giants and Honolulu All Stars.

In a recent series at Kansas City, the A's took two out of four games from the Monarchs and then went on the Memphis to throw the Tigers for three upsets in a row. These nines rank with the best so far as Negro squads are concerned.

Either Mike Sexton or Wally Pierce will do the pitching for the A's, according to Bill James, the Indianapolis manager who is a fan of the Kaws, stated that the letters of Kaukauna and vicinity will have plenty of baseball thrills when they see his outfit cut capers on the diamond.

According to James, Sexton can pretty near make a baseball talk. He is a screw-ball artist and his varied assortment of benders, coupled with speed to burn, makes him a pitch nut to crack on the mound. Pierce throws from the port side and his special stock in trade is a deceptive change of pace.

Frankie Parker Loses To Yankee Teammate

LONDON—Unless he begins to show some ability at meeting new conditions, it looks as if Frankie Parker will have a hard time holding his place as an active member of the United States Davis cup team.

The versatile Wayne Sabin, who was added to the squad largely because Captain Walter Pate figured he could furnish the stars with any kind of opposition they wanted in practice, knocked Parker right out of his first British tournament yesterday.

Frankie was charged with an error when he tried to match Sabin in a baseline duel in their second round match in the Queens club tournament. Parker had won the first set, 6-3, and was leading 4-1 in the second when he changed his tactics. The young Californian proved far steeper and more enduring and won, 3-6, 7-5, 6-2.

The Cleeks, composed of Ed W. J. McLaughlin, R. Getchorn and Guy McCormick, were the winners in the weekly Twilight league golf contest at Riverview club yesterday afternoon. They scored 21 points and have 52½ for their total to date.

The team leading the league for the entire season is the Jigger squad, composed of George Beckley, Clyde Chapelle, Al Bradford and Austin Secker. It has 59 points for the three weeks' play. Roy A. Harrison has high individual score of 18½ points.

Prizes are given each week on the basis of points won in match play. There will be a grand prize at the end of the season for the top team and individual player.

MAKE READY FOR TITLE BOUT

With the fighters continuing their training for peak physical condition, Mike Jacobs, co-promoter and the man behind the Jim Braddock-Louis heavyweight championship fight, supervised construction of stands at Comisky park, Chicago. Jacobs is shown here pounding down the center stick, over which the ring will be built.

F.D.R. Will Pitch At All-Star Battle

WASHINGTON—A right hander who broke into the majors 20 years ago but who didn't become famous as a hurler until 1933 will be the starting pitcher in baseball's all-star game here July 7. He is Franklin D. Roosevelt.
Owner Clarke Griffith of the Washington Senators said he had made a "deal" with President Roosevelt to pitch the first ball.
Mr. Roosevelt made his debut in the majors in 1917 when, as assistant secretary of the navy, he raised the flag at opening day games here.

Filz and Kobals Blank Moose, 4-0

Hurler Allows Only One Hit and Turns in 15 Strikeouts

Sonny Filz was in rare form last night when he took the mound for Kobals against the Moose in a non-league game and allowed one hit, fanned fifteen and walked one as his team registered a 4 to 0 victory.
Friday evening Filz is slated to hurl for the Kobals against the Appleton Merchants in a game that will settle first place in City league standings.

Rhode started on the mound for the Moose and the Kobals jumped all over him for three runs after he was lifted in favor of George Faulk. The latter was touched for three hits and one run. Faulk fanned six and Rhode none; each walked a batter.

Buddy DeLeest of the Kobals was the bat star with two hits, one a double, off Faulk.

Joe Louis' Handlers Are Certain He'll Cop Title
BY EDDIE BRIETZ
KENOSHA—Don't let those bearish reports about Joe Louis' condition fool you. . . . The bomber may not be the man killer he was two years ago, but he still can throw that right and left. . . . He's been a bit slow getting tuned up, but yesterday's workout proved he can go to town when he wants to. . . . His managers aren't worried. . . . They're so sure Joe is going to trim Jimmy Braddock next Tuesday night they've already engaged training quarters at Pompton Lakes, N. J., for September fight with Max Schmeling. . . . The eight rounds Louis boxed yesterday was his best drill since he trained for Max Baer two years ago.

File notes: Mike Jacobs sent word up from Chicago today there is more than $800,000 in the bank. . . . Mike still insists the brawl will hit the million dollar mark. . . . It was just three years ago this month that the New York state athletic commission ruled Braddock was not a fit opponent for Hans Birkie. . . . Joe Jacobs, Schmeling's manager, is here as a trained seal for a syndicate. . . . He says if Braddock comes out for the fifth round he's a sure winner. . . . Instead of trying to dope out which is the better of the pair, most of the experts are spending their time trying to decide whether Louis or Braddock is the worse.

Some of the Cubs were speculating yesterday on who they'd place on the all-star team. . . . "Hartnett and Stainback" said one. . . . "Why Stainback?" queried another. . . . "To run for Hartnett," replied the first. . . . "He's been earning his living that way for 11 years." . . . When Marquette students go down to Chicago to see the Cubs they probably won't raise the roof cheering for L. D. Meyer, the new-entrained Bruin. . . . He scored two touchdowns, a field goal and a conversion for all 16 of Texas Christian's points against Marquette in the New Year's day cotton bowl game at Dallas. . . .

Chaff 'n Chatter

By Gordon R. McIntyre

COACH Joseph Shields of Appleton High school, perhaps imbued with the statistics bug after hearing my "pal," John Walter, recite school conference, Green Bay and stadium track records at Green Bay at the Valley meet, has compiled what he hopes are Appleton High school records over the years.

Joe admits he may be wrong in several instances and that's why he's appealing through this column for corrections, or such like. The records follow:
440-yard dash—Jack Sellers, 51.6 seconds.
1 mile run—Bill Lohr, 4 minutes, 41 seconds.
880-yard run—Jerry Hecker, 2 minutes, 4 seconds.
220-yard dash—Howie Bixby, 23.1 seconds.
100-yard dash—Howie Bixby, 10.15 seconds.

High hurdles—C. Van Alstyne, 15.5 seconds.
Low hurdles—Roy Marston, 26 seconds.
Pole vault—Don Johnston, 11 feet, 5½ inches.
Shot put—Vincent Jones, 51 feet, 1 inch.
Discus—Junior Kapp, 122 feet, 9 inches.
Broad jump—Karl Bohnsack, 22 feet, 5 inches.
High jump—Ken Slattery, 5 feet, 9½ inches.
Half mile relay—Team of Don Sadler, Glenn Bowers, Jack Sellers and Howie Bixby, 1 minute, 34.2 seconds.

Lloyd Cooke, representing the University of Wisconsin, and who won the mile and 2-mile races at the A. A. U. meet at Green Bay Saturday, is a graduate of Appleton High school. . . . But he didn't compete in track here. . . . His father had charge of architectural work on the new postoffice.

Friends of Frank Walsh, Chicago, were sorry about the way Frank slipped in the U. S. open after doing so well in the first two rounds. . . . The big fellow had a pair of 70's for the first two days but went wrong on the final day. . . . He didn't even finish among the first ten. . . . On one occasion, either the first or second day, Frank waded into a lake and shot the ball from the edge of the water to the green. . . . The shot was considered one of the best of the meet. . . .

We're certainly glad we weren't scoring that Little Chute-Oshkosh game last Sunday. . . . Fourteen runs in one frame and seven in another is enough to make a scorer go k-nuts. . . . Three members of the Chute squad got four hits. Baker Vorseger doing the best with four for five.

The Kaukauna-Two Rivers game was a tough one for Baldy Eggert. . . . He got two triples but in the ninth with the chips down and a run needed to tie and two to win and the men on the sacks, he whiffed.

Close games were much the order of events in several leagues Sunday. . . . The Wolf Valley loop had two 12-inning contests and one 14-inning battle. . . . And many of the week-end games were decided by a single run. . . .

Lawrence college tracksters showed a lot of class at the state A. A. U. meet Saturday. . . . And would have taken a big number of firsts if Marquette and Wisconsin hadn't entered their best talent. . . . All of which is fair warning to the state colleges that Lawrence will be tougher than ever next spring. . . . Yes, the Vikes are aiming at the Midwest title already.

In case you haven't noticed it, Art Deury has been given the rank of assistant professor at Lawrence and if you know your college titles, that's something. . . .

Note to Eddie Helms: Thanks for the letter.
Last Sunday was a bad day for some of the baseballers hereabouts. . . . A foul ball hit Clem De Young in the mask breaking it and the wires cut up his face. . . . Booze Bowers' eye stopped a foul tip off his own bat which laid him out and forced him to retire to the bench. . . .

Butte des Morts probably will be the scene of an exhibition golf match on Sunday, June 27. Tentative arrangements are for Billy Sixty of the Milwaukee Journal, who recently startled the staid English amateur field with a golf bag with his name in brilliant gold letters, and George Johnson, Waukesha, state amateur champion, to oppose a Butte des Morts foursome. More information is expected soon.

Wisconsin Netters Lose at National
CHICAGO—Wisconsin's three remaining entrants were defeated yesterday in the third round of the twenty-seventh national clay courts tennis tournament at River Forest. Roy Goffredon, Milwaukee, lost to John Shostrum, Chicago, 6-3, 6-1. William Murphy, Chicago, defeated Dan Leavens, Milwaukee, 6-3, 6-3. And Martin Busby, Miami, Fla., beat Marvin Wachman, Milwaukee, 6-3, 7-5.

Dave Woodward, Packard Trainer, Tells About Haycraft, Famous Gopher End

MY FOURTH All-American, Kenneth Haycraft, chosen All-American end and a member of Dr. C. W. Spears' great Minnesota team known as "The Thundering Herd" possibly had the hardest climb to All-American fame of any of my All-Americans.

To begin with, when he joined the squad he had some physical difficulties. First of all, he was handicapped by underweight, weighing 160 pounds. As he was a candidate for a guard position at that time, this lack of weight was a decided detriment. As the rest of the candidates for guard and tackle positions were men who weighed from 200 to 240 pounds in playing condition, you easily can see the task and the fine mental attitude this man must have had, for in his sophomore year, he made his letter at the guard position.

To help Kenny along, he was continually checked by our medical

Brewers Tumble To Fourth Place In Association Lose Night Game, 4 to 2; Millers, Hens Fight for Lead

CHICAGO —(P)— American association fans now enjoying the red-hot fight for leadership between Minneapolis and Toledo can thank a group of players who once cavorted in the majors—and possibly will soon be up there again.

Joe Sullivan, young hurler sent down by Detroit, won his own game yesterday as Toledo defeated the Millers, 2 to 1. Sullivan, one of several players formerly with the Tigers and now busy keeping the Hens in the association title chase, singled in the tenth to score Frank Croucher with the winning marker.

Ralph (Red) Kress, once a big league star on several clubs, continued the brilliant work that has been a factor in the Minneapolis rise to the league top. Kress tied the score in the eighth with his seventeenth homer of the season.

The triumph left the Hens only one game behind Minneapolis. St. Paul evened its series with Columbus, downing the Red Birds, 8 to 6, as little Art Herring out-pitched four Columbus flingers.

Louisville defeated Milwaukee, 4 to 2, in a night game, with Bud Tising downing Ralph Winegarner in a duel in which both hurlers gave up eight hits. Three Colonel runs in the first two innings gave them victory.

Indianapolis won a night double-header from Kansas City, making it four out of five against the Blues. The ten-inning first game score was 8 to 7 and that of the seven-inning afterpiece was 6 to 1.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

By the Associated Press

Clay Bryant, Cubs—His five-inning, one-hit relief job for fifth win of year stopped Bees, 5-4, and put Chicago in first place.

Joe DiMaggio and Red Ruffing, Yankees—Former hit safely in sixteenth straight game with triple and single; latter hurled four-hit, 3-0 shutout of Indians.

Gus Suhr, Pirates—His two hits, one a homer with two on, drove in four runs as Bucs topped Hubbell and Giants, 7-5.

Al Hollingsworth, Reds—Checked Dodgers' rally in ninth for 4-3 victory.

Cletus Elwood Poffenberger, Tigers—Held Senators to three hits in 6 1-3 innings as Detroit won in 15 innings, 9-8.

Lefty Grove, Red Sox—Scattered seven hits and gave up one unearned run in 5-1 setback of White Sox.

Seek Spar Mates for Louis' Last Drills

Kenosha —(P)— Joe Louis' managers hunted more, faster and tougher sparring partners for the brown bomber today.

Louis, as a reward for his good showing against four hired hands yesterday, spent the day lounging around as Manager Julian Black and John Roxborough sought additional boxers to work with Joe Thursday, Saturday and Sunday, when he will wind up training for his title fight next Tuesday night in Chicago with Champion Jim Braddock.

Louis intends to go 15 rounds tomorrow. He weighed 199 after Tuesday's drill and expects to scale 197 or 198 against the titleholder.

INSTALL BAT RACKS

Chicago —(P)— Basemen and catchers going after foul flies at Wrigley field won't have to worry any longer about turning an ankle on the long familiar row of bats in front of the dugouts. Bat racks have been installed inside both dugouts.

WINS DECISION

Chicago —(P)— Les Morris, 143, Milwaukee, won a four round decision over Harry Booker, 133, Chicago, in a bout at western stadium last night.

MANIE TO REST

Berlin —(P)—Returning today after a seven weeks' absence, Max Schmeling, German heavyweight boxing center, will be immediately for his country home for a rest of several weeks.

advisers, and was on a special diet. Along with the exercises you have been reading, Kenny gained ten pounds' while playing the tough type of football that Doc Spears was coaching at that time.

Now I hope the boys who are following my articles, and who think they are physically unfit and underweight, will take this Haycraft boy as he was then, and study him as an example. Listen to this pick up—remember Kenny weighed 160 pounds starting his sophomore year, and 170 at vacation time. He was so sound and determined to make good that the last men that he contacted when he finished his sophomore year were his coach and trainer. We both told him what to do and how to do it to the best of our knowledge.

Put on Weight

When he returned to begin his junior year I believe I was the first man to meet him. He was all smiles and called me into the locker room where he stood on the scales, a copper-colored athlete, weighing 190 pounds.

During the preliminary practice in his junior year, he was awarded through the close observation of Eddie Lynch, a new end coach at Minnesota that year, an opportunity to try out for an end position. Coach Lynch, after watching Haycraft's maneuvers, at once asked Dr. Spears for the use of him. To Dr. Spears' question of "Why do you want him?" Coach Lynch replied, "That fellow should make a great end."

Coach Lynch opinion certainly turned out right, for in spite of the physical handicap Kenny was forced to overcome, he did turn out to be a great end. He was not the flashy or spectacular type of player, but he always was covering his assignment, and I know there were very few times when the opponents circled his end. He seemed to have a conservative style of his own, and although he would be playing

Filly Championship is Feature of Horse Race

Chicago—(P)— The three-year-old filly championship of the country may be decided Saturday in the $25,000 added American derby at Washington park.

Two fillies which will strive for national supremacy will be Mars Shield from Mrs. Ethel V. Mars Milk Way Farm stable and Dawn Play, owned by the King Ranch of Texas. Dawn Play is coming after victories in the Acorn stakes and the American Coaching Club Oaks in New York.

Dawn Play is expected to be at 4 to 1 in the betting, with Mars Shield at a much shorter price. Case Ace, also from the Milky Way farm, is expected to be established a heavy favorite.

State League Notes

IT is a made to order pennant race in the Northern State league as four of the clubs, Kaukauna, Two Rivers, Little Chute and Manitowoc are tied for the top of the percentage with four victories and a pair of reversals.

Oshkosh and Kimberly are in a tie with two victories and four upsets while the Green Sox are at the bottom of the heap with but one victory in six games. The flop of the Bays has been the surprise of the season to date.

It just seems as if Manager Bob McClain's team can't get clicking on all nine. The team only hits in spurts and the pitching has also been spotted. The inner has been cracking at crucial times and this goes for the outfield, too.

President Arthur Schuetze makes it a point to see a game every Sunday and in this way he keeps an "eye witness" check on his umpires. The Northern State "prexy" is an old ball player and he knows the game from top to bottom.

A battle for the top of heap will be staged at Kaukauna on Sunday night when the Kaws have it out with Manitowoc. The Electric City management is expecting the biggest crowd of the season and some extra bleachers may be set up.

In the other games this weekend, the Oshkosh Indians are slated to make their first appearance of the season at Kimberly while Little Chute is scheduled for Green Bay. The Two River Icebergs have the open date.

Every member of the Manitowoc squad from Manager Al Borths down to the mascot feels confident that this will be the Shipbuilders' year in Pennantville as the mixture of veterans and recruits is working out splendidly.

Speaking of youngsters, three members of the Two Rivers club, Bohne, pitcher, Kenville, shortstop and Meyers, centerfield, received their sheepskins as members of the graduating class at Two Rivers high school this last week.

Butch Thelin has donned the monkey tugs again and is swinging a bat for Kimberly. The veteran infielder made his 1937 debut against Two Rivers and in his one trip to the plate cracked the ball to the fence for a twin sacker.

Two Rivers went into a four way tie for first place by handing Kaukauna a surprise 7 to 6 upset. Carvenough, hurling his third game in eight days for the Kaws only allowed eight hits but the Icebergs bunched their blows.

The Cool City tribe got hot in the third frame and a half dozen runs were chalked up. The major blast in this flame came off Morrie Bault's huckery stick when he hit over the garden wall with all of the bases populated.

Kaukauna staged a rally in the ninth and only fell one run short of knotting count. The Kaws had two aboard when Baldy Egert, who had tripled twice, stepped to the plate. However Lefty Fortin took care of Egert without trouble.

Even Mayor Arthur Schuetze had to smile at the way Manitowoc put the skids under Green Bay 11 to 5. The Shaps trailed until the sixth but a five run rally put the game on ice and they added four more in the nine frame.

Al Borths, the Manitowoc manager, cavorted around like a major leaguer in the center garden against Green Bay. He pulled down one drive that was tickled for three sackers while racing toward the right center barrier.

Shorty Zuidmulder, Sox first sacker, had his batting clothes on as he twice connected with Lefty Schoppe's offerings for circuit swats. One of Zuidmulder's wallops zoomed past the flag pole in deep center field.

Even in defeat, Fritz Wegner, Oshkosh first sacker, stood out like a real ball player. He helped himself to four singles besides handling himself in capable style around the mud hole in which the initial sack was located.
